Mother and Son Drown in Esopus At Boiceville

William Mayhew Falls From Creek Bank Into Swift Current—Son Drowns In Trying To Rescue Mother—Husband Saved By Anglers

Mrs. William Mayhew and her son, William Mayhew, 17 years old, of Esopus, N. Y., were drowned Thursday night in the Esopus creek near Boiceville. Mrs. Mayhew, who was about 300 yards away from the creek, saw her son fall from the bank into the water. She tried to swim to him, but was unable to do so. Her husband, who was with her, saw her fall and tried to help her, but was also unable to do so. The body of Mrs. Mayhew was recovered about 12 o'clock today. The body of her son was recovered about 1 o'clock today. The bodies of both were recovered by the Esopus fire department.

As Mrs. Mayhew was walking along the bank of the creek, she saw her son fall from the bank into the water. She tried to swim to him, but was unable to do so. Her husband, who was with her, saw her fall and tried to help her, but was also unable to do so. The body of Mrs. Mayhew was recovered about 12 o'clock today. The body of her son was recovered about 1 o'clock today. The bodies of both were recovered by the Esopus fire department.

Fishermen Rescue Mayhew. Mr. Mayhew, who was about 300 yards away from the creek, saw her son fall from the bank into the water. She tried to swim to him, but was unable to do so. Her husband, who was with her, saw her fall and tried to help her, but was also unable to do so. The body of Mrs. Mayhew was recovered about 12 o'clock today. The body of her son was recovered about 1 o'clock today. The bodies of both were recovered by the Esopus fire department.

Nearby were half a dozen fishermen and all went to the scene and attempted to give aid but their services were of no avail as none of them were able to swim, and if they had been able to swim the current probably would have prevented a rescue.

Last Line and Hooked Body. The body of Mrs. Mayhew was recovered about 12 o'clock today. The body of her son was recovered about 1 o'clock today. The bodies of both were recovered by the Esopus fire department.

State Troopers and employees of a New York board of water supply immediately began searching for the body of the boy which had been carried under by the swift current.

The scene of the double drowning took place below the five arch bridge at Boiceville where the Esopus creek empties into the Ashokan reservoir.

Went for Day's Outing. Mr. and Mrs. Mayhew and their son, who were on a day's outing, were drowned Thursday night in the Esopus creek near Boiceville.

Electrical Storm Brings Relief

Refreshing Drizzle Follows Heavy Storm, Aiding Farmers Who Have Been Harassed by Dry Weather.

The first April shower of the season passed over Kingston and surrounding country Thursday night. Early in the evening those who attempted to get their favorite station on the radio could hear distant electrical disturbances which indicated electrical storms and it was not long before distant flashes of lightning were to be observed. By 9 o'clock rain began to fall and there were rumblings of thunder and brilliant flashes of lightning. The storm continued for some time and finally settled down into a refreshing drizzle which continued during the night.

Buds and grass sprang up as if by magic during the night and refreshed by the steady rain the country presented a fresh appearance by morning. Frequent winds and lack of rain have caused the country to become dry and farmers have been anxious for a spring rain to help out the grass crop and to make plowing easier. The fruit men, however, who are behind with their spraying will have to work quickly in order to get on the early spray before the buds are too far developed.

The Kingston Gas & Electric Company reported that the storm had caused no damage to the service, and at the New York Telephone Company's office it was stated that the damage was of a minor nature, about twenty-five to thirty telephones, widely scattered throughout the city, being put out of commission by the effects of the lightning. However, all damage had been repaired this morning, and service was again normal.

Ninth Juror in Snyder Trial

Queens County Court House, New York, April 22 (AP).—The Snyder murder trial jury was three-quarters complete before the noon recess today. The ninth juror was Everett Vanriken, 48, secretary of a manufacturing concern. Previously Lewis Ruchdasch was chosen juror number 8. He is a widower and the father of two children.

Prior to opening of court today the count of talesmen examined during the first four days of the trial stood at 244. Of these 83 were examined yesterday. Of that number three were selected to join the four men selected on the second and third days. On the first day not one juror was obtained from the 50 men examined.

Peremptory challenges were spent freely yesterday, the total used at the close of the afternoon session being 16 for Mrs. Snyder and 14 for Gray. The state had used 13. Each side of the defense is permitted 30 such challenges and the prosecution sixty.

Seek Early Trial For Paul Kelly

Los Angeles, April 22 (AP).—The district attorney's office announced today that an early trial would be sought for Paul Kelly after arraignment of the film player yesterday on an indictment charging him with the murder of Ray Raymond, musical comedy star.

Meanwhile, attorneys for Kelly were seeking to learn whether Dorothy Mackaye, stage actress, who figures in the love triangle, had been legally married to Raymond. They indicated that Florence Bain, actress and former wife of Raymond, might be called as a defense witness to tell what she knows of the marital status of the actor.

Mrs. Mackaye, who collapsed after appearing before the grand jury Wednesday, is under a doctor's care at her home in Hollywood today. The actress said she was destitute, explaining that Raymond's entire estate had consisted of a $200 bank account and that this had been exhausted.

Pictures for Boys At 'Y' Tonight

All boys over twelve years of age will be welcomed to the Boys' Department of the local Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7:30 where seven reels of educational films will be screened. It is expected that the lecture room where the films will be shown will be crowded with youths who will gain much from the seven reels of motion pictures exhibited. Some of the topics to be illustrated will be "Boys of Dynamite" and "The Man at the Throttle." The latter was taken in the cab of the famous Twentieth Century Limited of the New York Central Railroad. The director of the Boys' Department, C. H. Hall, assures that the films will be interesting as well as educational.

A membership campaign is now being conducted by the "Y" and Mr. Hall will be glad to hear from any little boy who wishes to join the organization. Boys who are new members may bring others into the organization and a number of prizes will be given to the members who get the largest number of recruits.

Daylight Saving In Effect Sunday

Thirty Cities and 32 First Class Villages Move Clock Ahead One Hour Railroad Schedules Revised.

Daylight saving will go into effect in Kingston Sunday morning at 2 o'clock when all clocks will be moved ahead one hour. A convenient way for the householder to set the clock ahead one hour on retiring for the night lest he forget the change on arising in the morning.

More than thirty trains on the New York Central lines will run under revised schedules, both east and west, and other service will be adjusted to daylight saving time.

According to reports compiled it is estimated that of the 11,000,000 people in New York state, 8,000,000 will go on daylight saving time Sunday morning. Thirty cities and thirty-two of the first class villages in the state will move the clocks ahead one hour. Other cities will go on daylight saving later.

New York city is the largest city adopting the new schedule, to continue until the last Sunday in September. Other cities which will conform with the new arrangements are Albany, Amsterdam, Cohoes, Fulton, Glen Cove, Glens Falls, Gloversville, Hudson, Johnstown, Kingston, Lackawanna, Long Beach, Mechanicville, Mount Vernon, Newburgh, New Rochelle, North Tonawanda, Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie, Rensselaer, Rome, Saratoga, Schenectady, Sherrill, Tonawanda, Troy, Watervliet, White Plains and Yonkers.

Cinadadigua will have daylight saving from May 30 till September 6, Fulton till August 29. Little Falls from the third Sunday in May to the second Sunday in September. Oneida from May 29 to September 28. Rochester from May 29 to September 12 and Utica from the first Sunday in June to the last Sunday in August.

It is not settled which time will govern Buffalo, and standard time will control the following cities: Syracuse, Auburn, Watertown, Ilwaco, Dunkirk, Jamestown, Ogdensburg and Oswego.

DECIDES ON MORATORIUM DUE TO FINANCIAL CRISIS

Tokyo, April 22 (AP).—A twenty-one day moratorium was decided upon by the privy council this afternoon, because of the financial crisis. The cabinet announced that a special five-day session of the Diet had been called to begin May 3 to discuss the financial situation.

Since the beginning of the financial depression in mid-March, it is expected that thirty banks have suspended operations. Six of them were large institutions, including the Bank of Taiwan, limited. The total deposits affected are reported in the neighborhood of 900,000,000 yen (about $450,000,000). But accurate details of the suspensions have not been learned owing to the reticence of the finance department.

Although runs on banks have been general throughout Japan, four Tokyo banks have been crowded the last few days with Japanese making deposits, estimated at 100,000,000 yen.

GLASCO SCHOOL BOARD HAS ENGAGED ARCHITECT BETZ

The board of education of the Glasco school district has engaged Architect Gerard W. Betz of this city to draw the plans for the new school building to be erected on the Dilport property in Glasco, recently purchased by the board. The building will be of brick, two stories high, and contain ten rooms and an auditorium.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Crantz, 32 Foxhall avenue, a daughter, Marie.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Swart, 51 Lincoln street, a daughter, Delores Virginia, at Kingston City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley C. Halwick, Lake Katline, a daughter, Doris Marie, at Kingston City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Schultz, 152 Stephen street, a son, Donald Howland, at Kingston City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis H. Haines, Wrentham street, a daughter, Audrey Taylor, at Benedictine Hospital.

Gregory's Car Not Wrecker. Edwin E. Gregory of 51 Elmer street reported to the police Thursday that it was his car that was in collision with that of Joseph Wemmer of 167 Hudson street, on Smith avenue Wednesday night. Mr. Wemmer was notified and he and Mr. Gregory got together and adjusted the matter.

Sanitary Measures.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Union Now will hold its annual meeting and dance Monday, April 25. Good to what the Americans are going to do.

Martial Law At Shanghai

Due To Agitation By Radical Unionists—Six Radical Leaders Executed In The Native Quarter of Lunghwa.

Shanghai, April 22 (AP).—Martial law was declared in the native city of Shanghai today because of agitation by radical unionists. Chinese police patrolled the streets and suspicious Chinese were searched.

Six radical leaders were executed in the native quarter of Lunghwa. Their names were withheld.

Headquarters of the Shanghai district of the Kuomintang (Cantonese political party) announced the creation of a special office to hear complaints of "corrupt practices by the gentry and other miscreants." Hearings are to be held each Saturday to adjust infractions of rights arising out of the revolutionary conditions.

At a secret meeting of the moderates, it was voted to send Chow-Lu, described as former councillor of the late Sun Yat Sen (first president of the Chinese Republic) and a "noted hunter of radicals," to Nanking to direct the extermination of radicals. It is at Nanking that the moderate faction of the Kuomintang, led by General Chiang Kai-Shek, set up a new government, several days ago, breaking away from the radical leaders of the party at Hankow.

Dropped Dead at Church Social

Mary, wife of John McPhail, of No. 223 Catherine street, dropped dead while attending a social in the Immanuel Baptist Church at No. 50 Hasbrouck avenue Thursday evening. Mrs. McPhail was apparently in good health when she left home to attend the social, but about 11 o'clock that evening she was seized with a heart attack and dropped to the floor. Police headquarters were notified and Sergeant Phinney was rushed to the church in a car. Dr. Larkin, who was also summoned, pronounced death due to heart trouble. Coroner W. Norman Conner was informed of Mrs. McPhail's sudden death and authorized Undertaker Perry to move the body. Besides her husband, Mrs. McPhail is survived by four daughters, Mrs. William Trainer, Mrs. Columbus Redmond, Mrs. J. Adams, Miss Mary McPhail and three sons, John, Edward and George. Funeral from the home of Mrs. William Trainer, 111 Abel street, Monday at 2:30. Interment in Montrose cemetery.

Shoots Woman Then Kills Self

New York, April 22 (AP).—The fashionable east side section of uptown Manhattan was thrown into excitement last night when Francis Belloni shot and critically wounded his woman companion and then killed himself.

The woman, Mrs. Laterino Aiuere, 33, a maid in the Park avenue home of Alan Black, was reported in a dying condition at Roosevelt Hospital. The shooting occurred at Madison avenue and 88th street and followed a quarrel.

Mrs. Aiuere, during a conscious period, told police Belloni had telephoned asking her to meet him at Adams, Miss Mary McPhail and three sons, John, Edward and George. Funeral from the home of Mrs. William Trainer, 111 Abel street, Monday at 2:30. Interment in Montrose cemetery.

Residents Quit Missouri Towns

St. Louis, April 22 (AP).—The towns of Libbourn and New Madrid in southwest Missouri were virtually abandoned today as the residents fled before the raging waters of the Mississippi.

Several hundred inhabitants left the stricken area aboard a special train yesterday. Others previously had been taken to places of safety. Libbourn, with a population of 1,000, is three miles west of New Madrid, the first to suffer when the levee broke before the torrent.

Nearly all of New Madrid county is covered by water, and large sections in Dunklin and Missouri counties are flooded.

France and Britain Agree on Reply

Paris, April 22 (AP).—France and Great Britain are in complete accord upon the principles of the five-power reply to be made to Eastern China, Cantonese frontier minister, regarding the anti-foreigner outrages at Nanking.

Foreign Minister Briand made this clear today after a council of ministers. He added, however, that there were several details to be arranged. The impression prevailed in official circles that an agreement of the powers in Peking on the joint reply to China is awaiting information as to what the Americans are going to do.

Catholics Deny Jalisco Outrage

Archbishop Flores Declares If Priests Took Part in Train Huddup and Orgy of Outrage, the Church Had No Knowledge of It.

Mexico City, April 22 (AP).—Catholic circles in Mexico continue to make denial of the government charge that the Catholic Episcopate was behind the Jalisco train outrage of Tuesday night and that Catholic priests were on the scene. The charge prompted Archbishop Ruiz y Flores to break his long silence last night, when in a statement, in behalf of the Catholic Episcopate, he declared that no Catholic priests participated in the outrage, and that no connections with it had been established.

"The reason to be given," he declared, "is that the Catholic Episcopate, and especially the Holy See, have no knowledge of the events of Tuesday night. The Catholic Episcopate has no knowledge of the events of Tuesday night. The Catholic Episcopate has no knowledge of the events of Tuesday night."

Revolutionists are charged with the outrage in impartial quarters, where the theory is held that the intention was to loot the train. In this way discrediting President Calles and his government. The soldier guard on the train blocked the plan by swift resistance, and the belief is expressed that this so angered the revolutionaries that they decided upon an orgy of outrage in revenge. Only three of the fifty soldiers survived. In all about 100 passengers and soldiers were killed, while about fifty persons were injured.

Survivors who reached Mexico City yesterday estimated that at least twenty children, ranging from infants to ten year old boys and girls, were killed in the second class coaches and that another twenty lost their parents.

The United States embassy had no information to substantiate early reports that from five to seven Americans were on the train.

WORLD'S ENDURANCE DANCING CHAMPIONSHIP

Los Angeles, April 22 (AP).—Approximately 20 couples danced to the jazz rhythm of one step and fox trots and the dreamy strains of the waltz on a ball room floor here today in competition for the "world's endurance dancing championship," which started yesterday at Venice, 15 miles away.

Those still in the whirl were all that remained of a start field of 350 couples who glided off the Venice pier at six o'clock yesterday afternoon on a 15 mile "shuff" over pavement to the public dance hall here. The marathoners warmed up with three hours of dancing on the beach pier.

Hemmed in on all sides by spectators, the dancers moved away from the pier within a roped off enclosure, dancing to the music furnished by jazz orchestras preceding them in motor trucks.

Two steps, each of ten minutes, were made en route from the beach pier but when the hall room was reached last night, five hours after the start, only sixty couples remained.

MOTHER OF TEN SLEW DAUGHTER, SAYS JURY

Freehold, N. J., April 22 (AP).—Mrs. Christine Stoble, mother of ten children, today found guilty of manslaughter for the slaying of her 16-year-old daughter Rose. Supreme Court Justice Lloyd sentenced the woman to ten years in state prison.

St. James Cafeteria Supper. Circle No. 2 of the Ladies' Aid Society of the St. James M. E. Church will serve a cafeteria supper in the church dining room on Wednesday, April 27, from 5 until 8 o'clock. The following is the menu: Clam chowder, Virginia ham, scalloped potatoes, potato salad, baked beans, spaghetti with cheese and with tomatoes, brown and white bread, rolls, pie, cake, canned fruit, coffee and tea. The ladies will also have chowder for sale by the quart.

Robbi Rose's Topic Tonight. Tonight at Temple Emanuel Robbi Rose will have as his topic "The Song of Triumph," a study of the well known Biblical "Song of Moses" and its influence in Jewish history upon posterity. He will also endeavor to evaluate its meaning in terms of modern life.

Change in Church Service. Beginning next Sunday, April 24, the regular morning service of worship in the Fair Street Reformed Church will be at 11 o'clock instead of 10:30 and the Bible school will meet promptly at 14 before service instead of at 10:30 following morning service.

Choir Boys Food Sale. The Choir Boys of St. John's Church will hold a food sale at the L. R. Van Wagoner Store, Wall street Saturday, April 23, beginning at 1 o'clock. This sale for the benefit of their camp fund.

Ask Aid For Food Victims. Washington, April 22 (AP).—President Coolidge today issued a proclamation asking aid for the sufferers in the area flooded by the Mississippi and its tributaries.

Methodists Give Most for Pensions

Statistician of That Denomination Announces Methodist Church Contributed Largest Amount of Any Church in America for Ministerial Relief.

Oswego, N. Y., April 22 (AP).—The largest amount ever contributed by any church in America for ministerial pensions was paid last year by the Methodist Episcopal Church, Dr. Thomas A. Stafford, Chicago, statistician of the board of pensions and relief, told the Northern New York Conference at Fulton today.

"The amount was $3,253,950, an advance of $120,000 over the previous year," said Dr. Stafford. "Of this total $2,236,282 came from the annual collections in churches of the denomination; $597,608 from interest earned on invested funds of the annual conference; $293,000 from the board of pensions and relief; and $86,972 from other sources. There are now 3,458 pensioners—3,505 retired ministers, 4,052 widows and 901 dependent children. Of these 453 received $1,000 or more; 1,000 and the rest received pensions ranging from $50 to $500."

"The total amount now in the invested funds of the 103 annual conferences in the United States is $18,000,000, which with the amount in the permanent fund of the board of pensions and relief, Chicago, $1,750,000, makes a total of $19,750,000, an increase of about $700,000 in 1926."

Philadelphia, April 22 (AP).—Asserting that communism was preached, but not practiced in Russia, William S. Wasserman, Philadelphia representative of Dillen, Read and Company, told the American Academy of Political and Social Science at its annual meeting today that American capital eventually would return to Russia "because the need is so great it cannot be denied."

The general topic of the meeting was "some outstanding problems of American foreign policy," discussion of the opening session being devoted to "The United States and Russia." In addition to Mr. Wasserman, the speakers included Pierre P. J. Davis, Yale University, and Alexander Perunkovich, also of Yale.

Mr. Wasserman, who spent three months in Russia last summer studying economic and social conditions, recommended that the United States send a commission there to discuss recognition by this country with the Soviet government.

Andrews Planning Whiskey Control

New York, April 22 (AP).—Formation by bonded liquor warehouse owners of a national whiskey monopoly with the object of providing "good whiskey at reasonable price" for persons who are ill, is being considered by the government, Brig. General Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition enforcement, said today.

The monopoly, he said, was being formed at his suggestion and declared that if the plan is perfected it should accomplish what the medicinal whiskey bill might have done had it been passed by Congress.

The plan was recently broached to the warehouse owners in Washington, he said. A tentative plan was submitted five days ago but found unsuitable, he said, and yesterday a substitute plan was submitted for his inspection.

While neither plan has been accepted by the government, he said, progress was being made.

Disaster Along The Mississippi Grows More Grave

Further Deaths, Desolation and Destruction Reported Almost Hourly—Death List Placed at 28, Property Damage High Into Millions, Hundred Thousand Homeless.

Memphis, Tenn., April 22 (AP).—The greatest valley in the lower Mississippi valley in more than 100 years was growing more grave today. There were almost hourly reports of further deaths, desolation and destruction caused by the furious tide of the Mississippi and its tributaries.

The number of known dead has been placed at 28, and belief was that the toll will grow much greater. Property damage was estimated high into the millions, and more than a hundred thousand were homeless and suffering for want of food, clothing and shelter.

The most serious conditions continued to center around practically the entire state of Arkansas, particularly the St. Francis valley and the Mississippi delta.

Workmen Holding Levee. At Hickman, Ky., where thousands of refugees were being cared for owing to breaks in levees above and across the river at New Madrid, Mo., the levees were barely able to hold the pouring current in its bed. Hickman lies at a bend in the river, and the dike there is called upon to withstand the deluge and turn it westward.

A break at Hickman would mean disaster for the Keokuk section of Tennessee. Hundreds of workmen were battling to hold the levee. The Mississippi delta, struggling against long odds as waters spread over 2,000 square miles. Thousands have been forced to flee from their homes; many are marooned, hungry, cold and destitute.

Request Federal Troops. Mississippi's governor has requested federal troops to aid in rescue and relief work.

Suffering among the refugees was increasing with bitter weather adding to the horror of mud and disease. Epidemics of mumps, measles and whooping cough were spreading with little medical aid available.

Greenville, Miss., threatened by a break in Sticks Landing, several miles above it, was apparently fighting a losing battle against the torrent sweeping down through eight counties.

20,000 in Path of Doomed Levee. The doomed levee at Albernarle Bend, south of Greenville, was weakening and water flowed over the top into the lowlands. An urban population of more than 20,000 was directly in the path of the weakening levee at Greenville.

Tevarkana reported that the Onavita river, on its second rise of the year, had inundated 500 square miles of Texas and Arkansas soil. Pine Bluff reported that more than 1,000 persons were marooned in Jefferson county alone from waters flowing through gaps in the Arkansas levee. Rescue work was slow, due to the high winds, and many of the refugees were standing out in the open where they were targets for the chilling blast.

SUNGESSER PREPARES FOR TRANSATLANTIC TRIP. Paris, April 22 (AP).—Captain Charles Sungesser has no intention of spoiling his chances of flying from Paris to New York by doing anything precipitate. He is carrying out every possible test on his plane with deliberation and care.

Today he was closely watching bench tests of the engine which will be substituted for the one used in the trial flights. The engine is being run under the same conditions as varying speed as it on the transatlantic flight. It will run continuously until it has consumed four tons of gasoline, the amount which the plane will carry. Then it will be taken apart and every piece scrutinized for signs of undue wear. If everything is satisfactory, the motor will be reassembled and mounted on the plane.

CHIEF PROTESTS PRESENT OF FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS. Hankow, April 22 (AP).—Engineer Chen, former minister of the Cantonese government having his headquarters here, has protested the presence of foreign gunboats in the Yangtze river at Hankow. He has also insisted the consular officials that the national government cannot be responsible for foreign property in Hankow, unless foreigners resume business.

Chen asked the foreign business interests to meet him in connection with reorganizing their establishments, but they demurred, saying that business was impossible under present conditions.

St. Peter's Card Party. The ladies of St. Peter's will hold a card party at the school hall on Monday evening April 25, commencing promptly at 8:15. A most cordial invitation is extended to all who would like to spend a pleasant evening with cards. Very pretty prizes will be awarded and the usual delicious refreshments will be served.

NAZARIAN SAYS SARKIS IS NOT AN ARMENIAN

April 20, 1927.

To the Editor of The Freeman.

Sir: This is merely to erase the error made in your last Tuesday's Freeman stating that Michael Sarkis, the assassin of a six year old girl, was an Armenian. I have reliable information to the fact that the ind accused of such crime was of Syrian and not Armenian nationality.

It will be of value to mention that for the past 500 years of agony, tireless Armenians had been earnestly fighting with the hope to erect morality, freedom and above all Christianity, which indirectly signifies morality. They have sacrificed almost everything to contribute to the welfare of their little picturesque spot of earth. At that time they were a nation of 11 million people. Due to excessive defence against the cruel Turks this modest number was quickly reduced to three million (now scattered about the earth). But Armenia is still ready to fight for social cleanliness which does not exist in the Turkish blood. There are approximately 124,000 Armenians in the United States today, practically all of whose minds do not run in channels of assault. The Armenian of America has two distinct duties: One of which is to do right in regard to citizenship in this country, and help cover the little bare foot of the unfortunate orphan in the near east.

Statistics show that for the past 50 years out of these 124,000 Armenians only three were committed to prisons of this country charged with comparatively minor crimes.

It is my duty to notice and correct the outstanding error by emphasizing that Michael Sarkis is not a native of a country where prisons or reformatories are scarcely used.

Very truly yours,
M. SHAH NAZARIAN.

An Educational County Meeting

Convention to be held in First Presbyterian Church on May 14, Conducted by Leadership Training Division of State Sunday School Association.

An Ulster county educational county convention, conducted by the Leadership Training Division of the New York State Sunday School Association will be held in the First Presbyterian Church on Elmendorf street on Saturday, May 14. The theme for the day will be "Developing Christian Character."

The Rev. L. M. Braam, president, will preside at the convention, which will open with a session at 9:15 o'clock Saturday morning. Among those on the program will be the Rev. T. Basil Young, A. B., who is Leadership Training Superintendent of the State Association; the Rev. J. Elmer Russell, who is superintendent of the religious education of the Synod of New York for the Presbyterian Church; Dr. L. P. Tucker, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League for the Syracuse district; Miss Marguerite Grove, B. A., director of young people's work for the Presbytery of Buffalo, and Mrs. Paul Warren, children's division specialist of West End Presbyterian Church of New York city.

Paper Bricks for Houses

Houses of paper may be possible with the development of a new process recently perfected by Ivan

Peckitch, a Serbian sculptor. Paper is the principal ingredient in his method of making brick, he says, although he uses seven other ingredients, which are kept secret by the inventor. He claims that the bricks are waterproof, that the material cannot be damaged by nailing and that it is especially suitable for buildings

one and two stories in height. Peckitch says that the bricks may be made in any color. The possibility of the process of the idea is shown by the fact that paper bricks and paper car wheels have been in use for many years, say those interested in its development.

"Electric Home" in Paris

The American "electric home," which was presented, complete to the last shingle and lamp, to the French nation two years ago by American manufacturers, has finally found a location in the Paris Latin quarter, where the government made room for

it. The Beauvauve Francaise, which is a society to encourage good will between France and the world, uses the electric home as its headquarters, and will there entertain visitors from everywhere. The home, in crates and boxes, has been in France for a long time awaiting a site. It is equipped with the latest things in switches and recesses and lights for the travelers of the world to enjoy.

Moving Work Bench

The mile-and-a-half-long main con-veyer line of the great Highland Park auto plant attracts more attention from visitors than anything else, yet few know that this moving platform is controlled by electric light signals. Because of the great length of this con-veyer line and the heavy weights carried, 12 electric motors are needed to operate it. But unless all of these motors operate together the conveyor line, instead of moving, will break.

To obviate this a series of electric lights has been placed above the electric motors so that they may all be started simultaneously.—Detroit Free

RAMSAY MAC DONALD, WRITER.

During his visit to this country Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Premier of Great Britain, will readily interest statesmen and politicians of every class in what he may have to say, for he is widely known to be a man of original ideas as well as of liberal views. He is likely to be also an object of interest to journalists and writers in general, for he knows how to employ his pen with unusual effectiveness. His literary "touch" is so distinguished, in fact, that the New York Times wonders if he "has not too much given up to politics what was meant for literature," and notes in illustration the following remark-able passage from his estimate of John Morley, the English statesman and publicist, in the Contemporary Review for March:

To him honor and honesty belonged to the sentiments of taste; they were artistic essentials. He withheld not his dreams, but he ever sought to embark upon action simpler than his promises. So were his inflamed enthusiasms, so the color and the musical rhetoric which, like Burke, he put into his diction, so the solemn resignation to fate after a life of upright walking which was his religion. He was like a finely strung musical instrument, the gentlest touch awakened into life sympathetic chords that hummed in low harmony together, a blow brought out loud chords of passion in sonorous volume. The generations will forget much of what he has written because the interest that occasioned it will have sunk into the silent chambers of the dead, but those studies upon which he lavished the dignity of his mind and the high nobility of his thought—surely, while the soul of man has ear to hear, they can not be forgotten.

HIGHER EDUCATION COSTS

In the times when it was readily assumed that any American boy could of right aspire to the higher education, as well as to the office of President of the United States, it would have been somewhat disconcerting to read that the students at Yale spend an average of $1,800 apiece every year, or $7,200 for the four year course. This does not seem so widely prohibitive a cost now as it would have then, but obviously it would seem to imply even now that the higher education is beyond the reach of the majority who desire it. It is to be noted, however, that there are cheaper college courses than at such large universities as Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Princeton, the average yearly cost at even the more celebrated State universities being reported as $1,000 or even less, and even at the most expensive seats of learning there is more opportunity now than formerly for the poor student to earn his way.

Yale itself recently reported that students there had earned $600,000 for the academic year, loans and scholarships furnishing young men of narrow means with $335,000 in addition. Princeton is said to have between 300 and 400 students who earn part or all of their expenses, averaging more than $500 annually apiece, and it is reported that at New York University more than two-thirds of the students are wholly or partly self-supporting. And so, in spite of the increase in tuition charges and the higher cost of living it is possible to understand this country's great roll of three quarters of a million college students.

"PESSIMISM" OF STUDENTS.

Joining the discussion of suicides among students, a Princeton undergraduate reports that "a phantom of depression" has suddenly confronted "us of the younger generation," and is "more than a post-war neurosis," being in large measure produced by the spectacle of "the increasing swirling pace of the world around us where men rush through life giving thought to little except how to escape from day to day." Here is the "fantasy" idea again—what is it all for and to what does it lead, if to anything? After considering the reports of suicide among students, the College student concludes that "despair of obtaining happiness was in almost every case one of the compelling motives." In many cases such "despair" is derivative because of the substance on facing the long wait for love, home or money—the three gifts of life which youths most dream of possessing, rarely realizing that a measure of happiness may be possible even if there is failure to achieve any one of them.

In the view of the Rev. Charles W. Harris, of the University of Indiana, instead of depression among college students, the great majority are not pessimistic enough, being too well satisfied with the drift of American life and its materialism, although their contentment with things as they are is perhaps "only a reflection of a society that has disregarded spiritual values." A Columbia freshman also fails to find much pessimism in college circles, convincingly reporting that "in general the student of today is just as gay as ever"; he is full of laughter, keenly enjoys "proms" and "hops," and "leaves (except for rare moments) morbid philosophy to those who have a grudge against life." Undoubtedly this pictures the predominating conditions, while the other is plainly based on exceptional instances.

AIR IN THE TROPICS.

It has been thought for years that so well in the tropics was because of the reason the white man did not do the food and tropical diseases. But another factor enters into the matter, according to results obtained by research men.

Two medical officers of the United States Navy, Drs. Raddie and Cooper, have been testing the blood pressure of naval officers in the tropics, and they find that it is 10 to 15 points below the pressure recorded in a temperate climate. It would appear that the tropics tend to lower the whole tone of the body, and this explains why northern people think of the inhabitants of tropical countries as lazy.

This leads the northern man to try and work as hard in the tropics as he does in the temperate climate, as he doesn't wish to be considered lazy. However, as these physicians point out, the native of the tropics really knows the right thing to do, as he does his hard work, or his play, in the morning and evening, and has his "siesta" or rest during the middle or hot part of the day.

Further it has been demonstrated that a northerner loses some of his red corpuscles, or has less haemoglobin in them after a sojourn in the tropics.

What does this mean to us? Most of us will not be sojourning in the tropics, but if you should do so it would be wise to remember that you should not try to work or play as hard down there as in the north.

This very restfulness of the air of the tropics, that makes one lazy is just what is needed by a high strung nervous individual who needs to be "altered up" mentally and physically. It is also restful for older people.

However, for most of us who are in need of a change, a good bracing air, whether by the sea or in the mountains, will keep up our blood pressure and enrich our blood.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

Philadelphia—Mr. Coolidge is the best dressed man in the United States, in the opinion of Sir Charles Higham, British advertising expert. The president is one of the few Americans Sir Charles has noted with shoes shined. Sir Charles found that the President talked in vivacious, intelligent fashion on half a dozen subjects.

New York—Why Edith Wyman Mathison has beauty of speech: "I lay this honor at the feet of my mother whose beautiful Welsh voice sang into my ears as a child; and second, at the feet of my father, who taught me to read my first poem, a Shakespeare sonnet, at the age of seven," the actress explained when presented with the gold medal of the American Academy of Arts and Letters for the best diction on the stage.

New York—Colonel House has disappeared from the Pantheon De La Guerre, great war panorama made by French artists, which has arrived in New York for exhibition. In his place is Ambassador Herrick. In the original the colonel was next to Woodrow Wilson among the 6,000 figures in the painting. The exhibitors assume the colonel was deleted in the interest of historical accuracy, since he had no official position.

Hartford, Conn.—Governor Trumbull almost commutes to New York by plane. He flies thither three or four times a month on business.

Berlin—The sovereign area of a civil marriage bureau includes all space above the bureau's building, as officially interpreted. Therefore Heinz Ortwein, an officer of the German Aerial League, who insists on being married in a plane, will have the machine hover above City Hall when he and she say "I do."

New York—Comes to officials of the Red Star Line news of a romance aboard the Belgica, on a cruise around the world. Alfred Pierce, 27, wine butler on the ship, and Miss Jean Nawa, 34, well to do widow of Pomona, Cal., were married at Manila. Because he was conversing with his wife, contrary to regulations concerning passengers, he was banished to the linen room. At Naples he and his bride quit the ship for a honeymoon on land.

Mantua, Italy—Instead of cape and gown everybody wore Roman togas in an academic procession at the unveiling of a monument to Virgil. Representatives of Oxford, Cambridge, the Sorbonne and leading Italian universities were in line.

Hip Line Is Higher in Modes Shown in Paris

The hip line is decidedly higher in Paris than in the last few seasons. If it is a straight dress the higher movement is indicated by a bolero, fringe or embroidery. Drapers have taken the place of plaits for afternoon wear, dresses are caught at the side or front. All length is at the back, both the skirt and the hip line dip toward the back. Flat frills cut in new ways were noticed a great deal. Wide sleeves are shown by many houses, but the long, tight sleeve is the one mostly seen, devoid of trimming. Fur trimmings and fringe are noticed a great deal for afternoon wear. Also the dull and shiny side of crepe satin is worn a lot.

Monkey glands will not help one to grow old gracefully, says Doctor Mayo. One has only to stroll through the zoo to realize that.

A Plea for Friendlier Dining Rooms

Wives over-zealous to make their living rooms pleasant in each small detail frequently neglect their dining rooms. Year after year these important rooms are forced to offer the same poor fare to those who come questing refreshment.

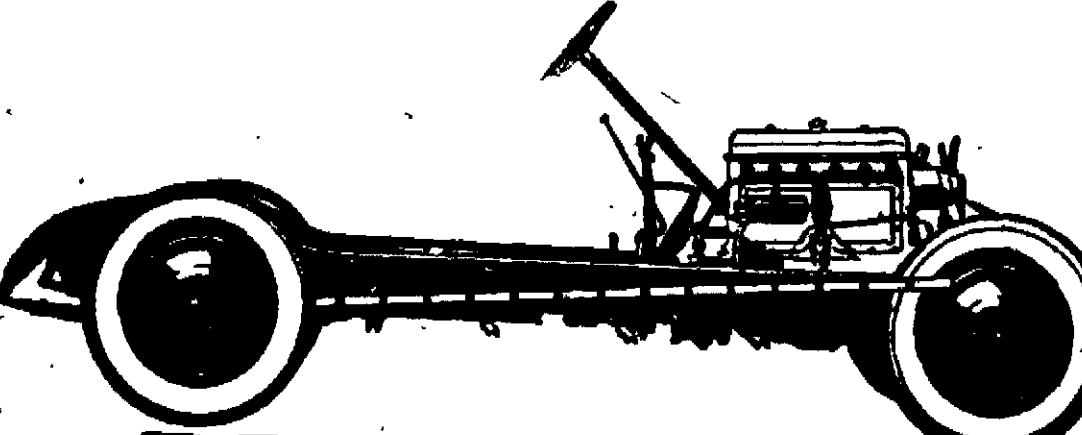

Spirits are more buoyant and appetites keener in homes where the rule holds that every meal shall be a delightful ceremony. Where scenes are changed now and then. Where friendliness is manifest in the very furniture—comfortable, artistic, and somewhat gay.

Have you ever considered painted furniture, seriously?

NASH
 Leads the World in Motor Car Value

You can see why Nash has extra power

The extra power that makes Nash a more capable car to drive, particularly on the hills or in dense traffic, is directly due to extra-efficient design.

The Nash Straight-Line Drive, for instance, disengages above.

Nash power flows directly from the engine to the rear axle in a straight line. There are no angles along the route to waste energy, as there would be if the motor were mounted parallel to the frame, as the ordinary motor is.

The Straight-Line Drive accounts in part for Nash aggressiveness—for the powerful pick-up at low speeds (where you need it most). You will always notice it is the Nash that gets away soonest when the traffic starts.

The Straight-Line Drive also avoids wear on the universal joints, and thereby prevents noise and looseness.

Of course, it takes a little longer and costs more to build Nash this better way——But any Nash owner will tell you it makes a lot of difference in the results he gets.

Drive a Nash, before you decide which car to buy!

English Girls Versatile

English girls, as well as their American sisters, possess the established ways of making a living and thereby prove their versatility. One makes her living by breeding gold fish, another by breeding guinea pigs, and a third by raising Angora rabbits. There are several business "masters of the house" and one master of business: one woman is a "tea dancer," another a coffee judge, while a college girl has become a "house and garden" columnist. Two women make profitable savings on Jan. 1st, one sells her own small refrigerator business and one is in the business supply business, selling large quantities of bottles.

SCATTER SEEDS
BY AIR ROUTEHalf Million Taken Aloft by Kite to Test Wind's Effects.

Portland, Ore.—How far does the wind carry the seed of trees? This is a question that often has been asked of and by foresters, but the answer only recently has been given through tests made under the auspices of the Pacific Northwest forest experiment station, on the snow-capped wheat fields of Waco county, Oregon.

The tests were in charge of T. T. Munger, director of the station, with A. E. Pickford of the British Columbia forest service co-operating. Thus the experiments were of an international character, and it is felt that the results will be of value to lumbermen and forest agencies wherever trees grow.

The aim of the tests was to determine the distance tree seeds are carried by winds of different velocities when released at the height of the average forest tree. In order to ascertain this fact, 300,000 Douglas fir, western red cedar, western hemlock, noble fir, western white pine and western yellow pine seeds were used.

Wind measuring instruments. In carrying on the work, a five-foot wing box kite was used, and from it was suspended a container for the seeds. Wind measuring instruments on the ground were attached to the kite by heavy cords. The kite, which was of powerful lifting capacity, was sent aloft at the end of 1,500 feet of piano wire wound round a reel held by a man.

The seed container was attached to the kite by means of a fish line, and from its cover was also a 225-foot tripping line. When the kite was sent into the air and had reached the desired tree height, the container was allowed to swing aloft with it, the tripping string was pulled, and the seeds released to make their flying journey to the ground.

Great Variation Shown. It was surprising how far some of the seeds were carried. Although the average width of the lane in which the seeds fell was about 35 feet, the greatest distance any seed was carried was 4,000 feet. Released at an altitude of 200 feet, in a 23-mile wind, the maximum seed-fall, that is, the largest number of seed, fell within an area approximately 1,000 feet out from the point of release, with the extreme distance for any seed about 3,500 feet. In a six-mile gale, the maximum seed-fall was 1,000 feet from the release point, with the farthest distance carried being 1,900 feet.

The wing device on the seeds, rather than the weight, seemed to be the determining factor in the distance the seeds were carried. The heavy western white pine seed made almost an equal flight with the lighter western hemlock. It was noted that there was a great variation in the individual seeds. The seeds are not deposited in one spot, but distributed over a sizable area. The cedar seeds showed the smallest variation, while the hemlock, the lightest in weight, showed the greatest. In fact, it was the hemlock seed which made the record of 4,000 feet when released at an altitude of 200 feet in a 23-mile gale.

Rancher Raises 'Coons
to Replace Poodles

Harrisburg, Ark.—Missy, who now walks down Fifth avenue with a curly poodle nestling in her arm or trotting at the end of a leash, may find a new pet selected for her by fashion's dictators as the result of an Arkansas industry.

Henry Higgins has set out to make raccoons popular as pets by establishing a ranch here for the little black animals. As yet it remains to be seen whether raccoons replace poodles, but the rancher is confident that if women refuse to wear the 'coons alive, they still will be glad to have them as coats.

He has fenced in an acre of ground, provided comfortable living quarters for the animals and with well-trained dogs is capturing raccoons. They are not difficult to raise, he says, as they are among the healthiest animals in existence.

U. S. Has Compass Hawker
Used in Atlantic Fight.

Washington.—A relic marking one of the milestones in aviation history rests, unknown to almost everybody, in the office of Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the navy bureau of aeronautics.

It is an air compass carried on the first plane which ever attempted a nonstop transatlantic flight, that of Harry Hawker and Lieut. Commander McKean of the British navy, in the spring of 1919.

The plane went down off the coast of Ireland and was picked up, with its pilots, by a schooner. Capt. A. C. Winters, commander of the schooner, who once was in the navy and was stationed with Admiral Moffett at the Great Lakes naval training station, presented the compass to him. The plane itself is on exhibition in the British museum.

PHOENICIA GAME CLUB FISH
CONSERVATION PHOTOGRAPH

The work of the Phoenicia Fish Game Club, which stocked the main stream with 250,000 trout last season, has not been in vain. Many anglers are now reaping the benefit of the work carried out by the organization. The motto of the club is "If You Wish to Catch a Big Trout, Put the Little One Next Season." For the Little One, anglers who have caught one of the trout are Elmer E. Rosen, Newburgh, who took one of the 25 inchers in length, weighing four pounds and seven ounces; John Gibbs, who landed a three-pound brown trout, and Floyd Smith, who caught one which any angler could envy.

DENBY IS NAMED ON LEGION COMMITTEE

Edwin Denby, former secretary of the United States navy, was named by the national executive committee of the American Legion recently as one of the new men to serve on the Legion's naval committee this year.

The work and recommendations of the next national convention of the naval affairs committee will be especially important this year because of the national defense situation in congress. The committee at the last national convention in Philadelphia through its resolutions, which were approved by the convention, outlined some of the subjects which will receive the attention of the new committee. Some of these recommendations are:

No reduction in the enlisted personnel of the navy.

Establishment of a sound policy to insure an adequate merchant marine.

Construction of a naval base on the west coast.

Development and construction of submarines.

Compulsory two years' service for all graduates of the naval academy.

Maintenance of an adequate naval reserve force.

Technical education of reserve officers.

Protection of Americans and American interests in foreign countries.

Others appointed on the naval affairs committee are: Nelson R. Pickering, Ansonia, Conn.; Charles Srenson, Panama; Ed Owens, Galveston, Texas; John A. Beckwith, Portland, Ore.; Dr. A. J. Argall, Denver, Colo.; Clarence A. Willis, Kissimmee, Fla.; W. L. Doolan, Jr., Louisville, Ky.; A. L. Swazey, Taunton, Mass.; Charles F. Macklin, Baltimore, Md.; and Townsend Boyer, New Jersey.

175,000 Have Finished Vocational Training

The work of training disabled World war veterans incipitated for their pre-war occupations in new vocations has been virtually completed, according to Watson B. Miller, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion, whose office is in Washington, D. C. Only about 1,000 veterans are still receiving vocational training under the United States Veterans' bureau out of nearly 180,000 who were granted training by the bureau.

The vocational training effort has cost the government approximately $600,000,000, Miller said. The greatest number of veterans in training at any one time was 132,000, in the spring of 1922. A total of 334,063 men applied for training courses.

The rehabilitation survey groups, which have been handling the vocational training work, have been virtually abolished and their functions transferred to the claims and ratings boards in the various regional offices of the veterans' bureau.

Birmingham Plans to Lead 1929 Convention

The Birmingham (Ala.) American Legion delegation to the 1927 convention of the Legion in Paris next September will request that the convention recommend Birmingham as the place for the 1929 convention, according to tentative plans announced by Legion officials of Birmingham.

The 1928 convention will be held in San Antonio, Texas, that choice having been made by the last convention which was held in Philadelphia.

Birmingham post No. 1 in anticipation of entertaining the national gathering in 1929, has inaugurated a membership campaign with 3,000 as the goal.

Legionnaires Give Blood

Virtually the entire membership of the Henry H. Houston II post of the American Legion of Philadelphia volunteered to give blood when transfusion appeared necessary to save the life of Frank E. Myers, member of the post. One of the volunteers was selected, but no transfusion was necessary. Rex B. White, another member of the post seriously ill, has been furnished with blood by several of his comrades.

To Build Club House

Adjusted service certificates, upon which money can now be loaned, will be used to finance the building of a club house for Clyde B. Jones post of the American Legion of Ocala, Fla., under plans approved at a recent meeting. The insurance certificates of members will be used as collateral in securing a loan from banks. More than $42,000 has been pledged to the club house fund in this form.

Champ Oyster Eater

Raw: Raw! for Bill Franklin of Washington, D. C. At an oyster supper held by Vincent B. Corwin post of The American Legion, William F. Franklin, post adjutant, set a record of 20 raw oysters gulped at one sitting. After more training Franklin expects to be able to hold his own at any Legion oyster feast, he said.

PROVING THE VALUE OF LITTLE THINGS

Misplaced and Missing Letters as Examples.

What's in a letter? A good deal, if the letter is inserted in the wrong place in a news dispatch, or if it is missing. So the Manchester Guardian discovered when it reported that "Elihu Root died on Tuesday, his eighty-second birthday, at his home in New York." It was no fault of the Guardian that in cabling the message the letter "n," which apparently needed a guardian, had been lost. The message should have read, "Elihu Root died on Tuesday, his eighty-second birthday, at his home in New York."

By being a word, this little letter completely changed the purport of the dispatch. Had it occupied its proper place, as did Mr. Root at the dinner table, readers of the Manchester paper would have known that he was not dead. They would have received assurance, moreover, that he was able to sit up and take nourishment. Indeed, if the truth were known, it is entirely probable that the statesman ate an extraordinarily hearty meal in celebrating his eighty-second birthday, such a meal as no dead man and few octogenarians have ever consumed.

This is not by any means the first time that an errant or wrongly placed letter has led to misunderstanding and embarrassment. Commas and other punctuation marks have caused all kinds of mistakes in meaning and not a few legal tangles and even spacing between words has produced damaging results, as in a line of poetry by Ella Wheeler Wilcox intended to read "My soul is a lighthouse keeper." The typographical error which caused the line to appear, "My soul is a light housekeeper," indicates why poets, as a rule, die young. But she had no greater reason for perturbation than did Mark Twain—a report of whose death was also prematurely circulated, and humorously denied—when the editor of his first published manuscript printed the name of the author as "Mark Swain." Not only is it necessary to watch one's "p's and q's," but also one's "i's and o's." However, it is fortunate for Mr. Root and for the country that mistakes in spelling, though they may result in an erroneous report of a man's death, are not so serious as mistakes in medicine or surgery.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Motor Organ Players

Pipe organs are now played by electric motors so skillfully that listeners in a recent demonstration at the great architectural show in New York were unable to tell the difference between machine operation and manual playing by an artist at the console. The motor compresses air which is released by a perforated paper roll crossing a slotted bar. Each release makes an electrical connection which is communicated to one of the organ keys or controls, thus replacing the touch of fingers and feet. The new mechanism makes it possible for theaters, lodges, and public halls to employ large pipe organs without musicians.

Catapult Airplanes

To save time, it is suggested that Atlantic liners approaching their ports should discharge small airplanes laden with specially urgent mails and parcels, or, in exceptional cases, even passengers. It has already been proved that airplanes can be launched from the crowded decks of ships by the catapult system.

It has been shown that airplanes with no human being on board can be propelled on to objects thirty-five miles distant, and it is expected that this range will shortly be increased to one hundred miles.

A New England boy will attempt to drive a 1900 roadster from Boston to San Diego. This is believed to be the first coast-to-coast hike planned for 1927.

MACHINES TAKE WORKERS' PLACE

Immigration Quota Law and Inventions Are Cutting Down Unemployment.

Cambridge, Mass.—The immigration quota law, which has now been in effect for two years, has cut down the steady stream of "cheap labor" into this country, and as a result industries have made extraordinary progress in finding new tools and machines to take the place of an unlimited supply of laborers.

"From one end of the country to the other reports of new labor-saving machinery are coming in almost daily," according to Prof. Robert D. Ward of Harvard University, who explains in the Journal of Heredity, how the new law is working.

Machines Do Work.

"We hear of new coke-handling apparatus," he states, "of mechanical brickmakers, of track-layers and of numberless other machines which are replacing crude hand labor and are at the same time saving money. The question, 'Who will dig our ditches?' is answered by mechanical ditch-diggers, the largest of which can do the work of 400 men."

Rapid increase in machines to do rough work is decreasing unemployment, Professor Ward finds. The peaks and hollows of seasonal employment are being smoothed out. The new industrial situation means higher prices for labor, but eventually, it is prophesied, it will mean a lower cost of production.

Even the shortage of domestic servants is by no means a "national calamity," says this economist.

Home Standards Raised.

The home standards of comfort and living are not being lowered; they are being simplified and improved, he explains. Progress in systems of food preparation and food distribution, modern equipment for cooking and house cleaning do more for the present-day housewife than cheap labor did for her grandmother.

Answering the argument that the new law is preventing relatives of immigrants from joining their families in this country, Professor Ward points out that practically 80 per cent of all immigration under the new law consists of "relatives." Since 1912 all aliens in overseas countries have known about the numerical restrictions on immigration to the United States. It is the immigrant himself who, if he comes here alone, does the separating, Professor Ward states.

Radio Saves Life of Man Lost in Canadian Wilds

Montreal.—Radio saved the life of a man lost in the fierce blizzard that struck Saskatchewan recently. Robert Thomson, who lives with his parents at Bratton, was visiting friends in the neighborhood when the storm began. A newcomer to this country, he ventured out in the snow and quickly lost his bearings. A search failed to find him within 24 hours.

Constable Band of the Saskatchewan provincial police, when notified that Thomson was missing, asked radio station CFQC at Saskatoon to broadcast a description of him. At a point miles from Bratton an elevator man picked up the message and sent word that a man resembling Thomson had been seen not far from this town. The scene of the search was shifted at once and young Thomson was found not long after. He had wandered 40 miles in a day and a half, and was in an exhausted condition when found.

Radio Permit Forms Ask "Intimate" Facts

Washington.—Form sheets on which operators of broadcasting radio stations must make their application to the new federal radio commission for permission to continue business have been completed and are being forwarded to district supervisors of the Commerce department radio section.

As disclosed by the application forms, the commission intends to find out from each station whether any alien ownership or interest exist in it; whether the station owner has been found guilty in any Federal court of monopolistic practice, and under what conditions and on what schedules it has operated. Details of operation also are requested and the station operator is asked for his own views on why the station should be adjusted as in the public interest.

The forms also may be used in applying for permission to start new stations. Sworn answers to all the questions are requested.

Motorcyclist Attacked by 4 Leopards, 2 Elephants

Cape Town.—Four leopards and two elephants recently attacked a motorcyclist riding at night from Mombasa to Nairobi.

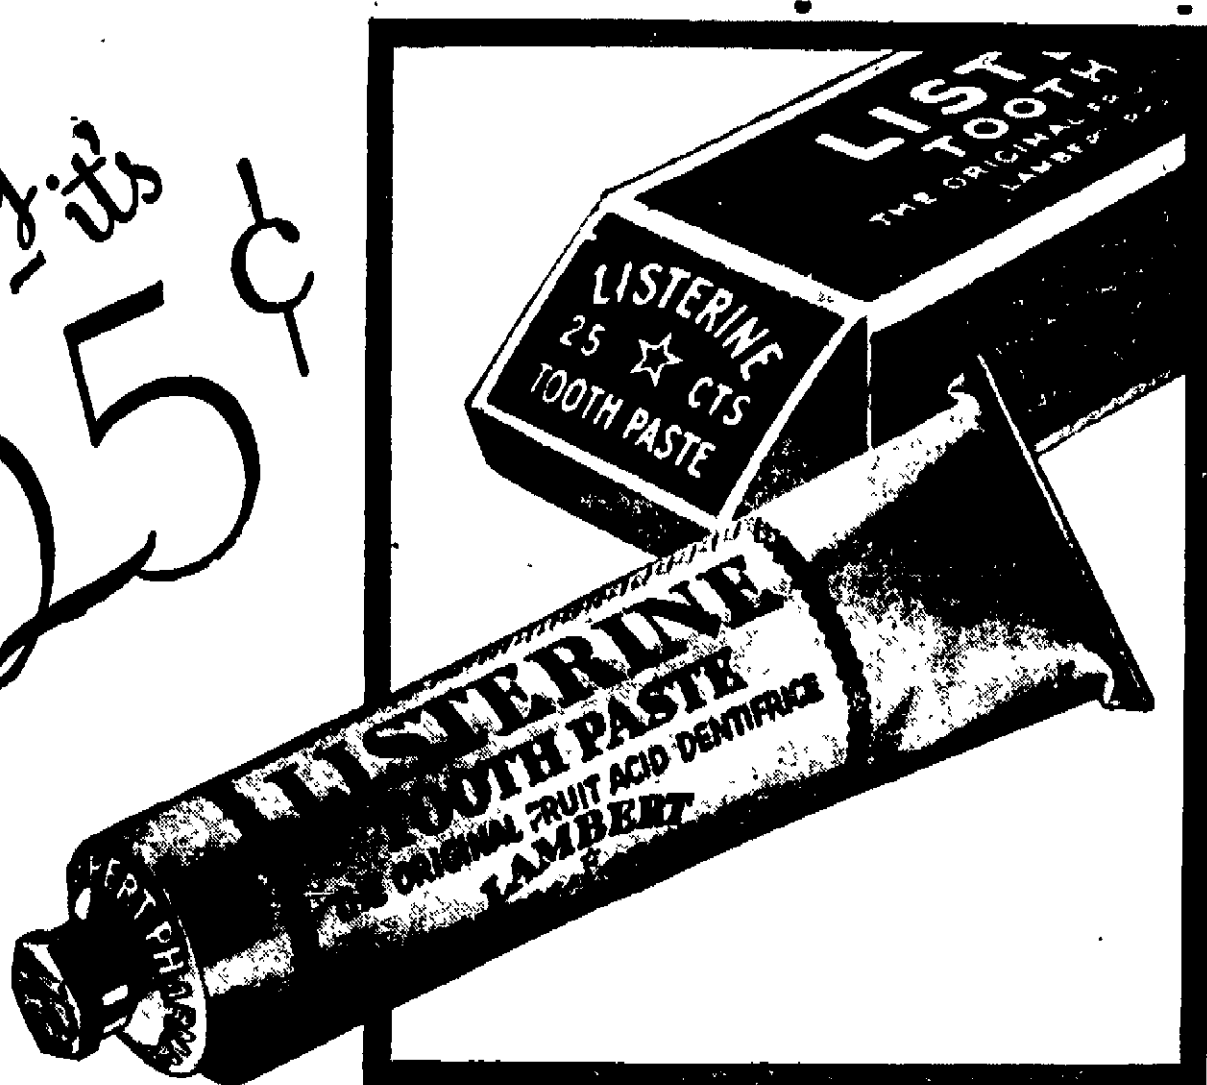

The road was so narrow that the rider could not turn his machine around, but by throwing out his clutch and racing his engine he frightened the leopards away. The elephants, however, did not alarm the motorcyclist, which continued their advance to attack the rider.

By speeding up his machine the motorcyclist managed to escape between the two beasts and made his escape unharmed.

Indian Hunters Made

Good Use of Blow-Gun

The blow-gun was a curious weapon used for bird-hunting among certain tribes of North American Indians. It was usually made of cane, some 11 feet in length, with a bore of around half an inch. The darts were about 2 feet in length, made of hardwood and "feathered" with some kind of vegetable fiber.

As far as we know the use of the blow-gun within the boundaries of what is now the United States was confined to such tribes as the Cherokee, Choctaw, Yuchi, Huna and other Muskogean tribes dwelling in the southern states. The Iroquois also used it, their guns being made of alder stems 4 and 6 feet in length, the arrows being slender slivers of pointed wood from 6 inches to 2 feet in length and "feathered" with the down or floss of the thistle. These tubes were used solely for bird-shooting, and were never poisoned or used against human adversaries.

A magical formula was recited by the Cherokee bird-hunter as he stood before his fire—which he addressed as "Ancient White"—rubbing his hands together as he repeated the prayer. Before starting on the hunt seven blow-gun arrows were first prepared in order that he might have them in readiness for the work at hand.

One of the seven was a short one, a magical arrow which he shot away at random, making no attempt to follow its flight, giving it to the powers that be as sort of a propitiatory gift. Then the hunter uttered a peculiar hissing sound which was supposed to draw the birds to him. The favorite hunting method was to climb into a gum tree, haunted by the smaller birds for its berries, and there ensconce himself and pick off the birds as they feasted. When all of his darts were used up he dropped to the ground, drew the shafts from the bodies of the slain birds and repeated the performance.—Mr. Woodward in Adventure Magazine.

The whistle in coming back, something had to be done to differentiate between the lower line and the neck line.

Cardinal Hayes Submits Report On Charity Work

Annual Report of Catholic Charities for 1926, Shows That Over Half a Million Dollars Was Spent in Archdiocese of New York.

The following is a summary and synopsis of Cardinal Hayes' report of Catholic Charities given at a dinner Thursday evening at the Hotel Roosevelt, New York City to one thousand prominent Catholic laymen.

Cardinal Hayes in submitting the annual report of Catholic Charities stated the Catholic Church is second to none in amount of relief actually administered by her or under her supervision.

Over half a million dollars was expended last year by the Catholic Relief Agencies operating in the archdiocese of New York. Such was the statement of Cardinal Hayes in submitting the annual report of Catholic Charities for 1926. Catholic Charities served 44,592 individuals, 10,871 families, expending the sum of $516,412.84. The Cardinal stated despite the wealth and prosperity of New York, the problem of family relief is stupendous. The Cardinal stated God is our first thought.

We love and serve our neighbor because of our love for God. Last year $1,163,327.00 was secured from 256,451 members, and special donations.

Man Chooses Right or Wrong.
In the field of prevention, the Cardinal warned that man is not a mere automaton. Crime and delinquency are the results of many factors and while responsibility may vary, we must hold to the primary principle of free will. Man has the choice to do right or wrong. While we extend the willing and tender hand of sympathy in this field, all our efforts are concentrated on strengthening the free will of man by contact with religion. To awaken his knowledge of responsibility to a Creator and to provide the means to fulfill that obligation is our purpose. The church, he said, is ever the guardian. The Cardinal stated that the half million dollar relief fund was distributed by the central office of Catholic Charities and its seven county offices, together with the St. Vincent de Paul Society and Ladies of Charity.

The financial assistance given represents only a portion of the service rendered in the Division of Families of Catholic Charities. To this division come all types and classes of requests. They come from priest and people, from public and private agencies and from individuals and agencies in the various parts of the United States.

Two agencies helped the homeless and friendless men and women stranded in the city: The Holy Name Mission at 319 Bowery during 1926 supplied 26,895 free lodgings and 64,466 free meals at a cost of $34,524.37. St. Zita's Home on 14th street cared for 470 women at a cost of $20,658.00. Six Homes of the Aged provided for 1,381 men and women.

Church Reaches 40,000 Children.
In the Children's Division there is spent annually over three and one-half millions of dollars. The energy and intelligence of nine hundred religious and thirteen hundred of the laity is devoted annually to the care of the child. In this work the church reaches over forty thousand children.

Today the church is spending annually over two hundred and twenty thousand dollars to provide and maintain nurseries for children. There are 26 nurseries which daily care for about 2,800 children. In most cases the mothers of these children go to work every day to supplement or provide entirely the family income. The staff of five nurses supervise over the nurseries and do intensive work in twelve last year these nurses assisted at 481 clinics—222 children were brought to hospitals for various operations—487 children were inoculated against diphtheria and 1,100 children were brought to dental clinics.

A temporary shelter whose purpose is to provide temporary care for children when accident, disease or death causes a temporary crisis in the family life has been established. Last year 599 children under seven years of age were sheltered from one to three weeks until family conditions could be readjusted.

The Big Brothers and Big Sisters in Manhattan, Bronx and Yonkers expended $45,409.33, but this sum of money cannot measure the extent of the work. In the past year 1,771 boys and girls were helped and 385 cases averted from the children's court.

Mental Clinic Maintained

A mental clinic was maintained by Catholic Charities during 1926 at a cost of $9,775. The purpose of the clinic is to assist in the mental hygiene problems arising with individual children in Catholic families. 726 examinations were made, 127 were found mentally deficient and 122 were border line intelligence.

Twelve summer homes last year spent $67,397.10 and 6,734 children were given vacations. 32 child care homes provided care from May 1, 1926 to November 1, 1926 for 1,683 children. Catholic Guardian Society supervised 7,592 children after they left child-caring institutions.

Foster home care is provided by three child placing agencies in the archdiocese. During 1926 they placed 276 children in free homes and supervised 2,836 already placed. In addition they boarded 859 children in families.

Free Hospital Care.

In the Division of Health it is worth while recording that the cost of care given freely to the poor in Catholic hospitals last year exceeded the amount of money received in the Annual Catholic Charities Appeal. In 22 hospitals 10,824 patients were treated without charge and there were 372,525 days of free care. So extensive a charitable service is possible because our hospitals are conducted by a consecrated religious, consequently saving large sums which otherwise would have to be paid to competent executives.

In the out-patient department of this division 15,568 patients were treated; 41,652 visits were made, 18,758 prescriptions were filled and 2,743 free prescriptions were given. These figures give some idea of the extent of the charity practiced by our hospitals, but even these do not present the full picture.

Care of Sick in Homes.

The care of the sick in their homes is another problem which has been solved. Four orders of visiting nurses cared last year for 4,085 cases which involved 147,469 hours of nursing. By this method homes are kept in tact during the illness of the mother or any member of the family because a sister nurse the individual through her weakness and takes her place in the home caring for the children as well. Four convalescing homes gave 32,664 days of convalescing care to 2,364 patients.

The Division of Protective Care the principal work is the Probation Bureau supervised by Professor Edwin J. Cooley which investigated 2,953 cases. Over 50,000 visits were made to homes. The report of the results of the intensive investigation of Mr. Cooley and the treatment of delinquents was recently published in a book entitled "Probation and Delinquency." On December 31st, 1926, Catholic Charities turned over this work to the Court of General Sessions.

Parole Work.

In the field of parole on January 1st, 1926, 671 men were under supervision of the Catholic Protective Society. During the year 502 were received on parole, making a total of 1,174 men under the supervision during the year. 260 successfully completed their parole and 147 were declared delinquent. On December 31st, 1926, 767 remained under the care of the Catholic Protective Society. In the women's branch January 1st, 1926, 327 were under the supervision. 557 received during the year, total 884. 121 were discharged from parole; 66 declared delinquent and 795 remained under the care. There were 7,000 visits made.

In the Division of Social Action over 30,000 were reached. 6 boys' clubs were maintained with a membership of 17,771 boys; boy scout troops in 88 parishes had a membership of 1,760; boy brigades in 251 parishes had a membership of 2,140, 170 troops of girl scouts had 4,150 scouts in 110 parishes and 178 scout leaders. There are nine immigrant homes with a capacity of 335. The emergency relief department of the League of Catholic Women distributed 3,427 garments through 12 agencies, 459 articles of clothing to the hurricane sufferers in Florida and Bahama Islands, and 12,600 surgical dressings. The employment bureau placed 582.

Catholic Women Aid.

The Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women aided 2,292 in establishing homes. There are 16 Boarding Homes in the Archdiocese of New York with a capacity of 1,175. There are 11 settlement houses with a membership of 3,854 boys, 488 girls and 1,922 adults. From these 2,155 children were sent to summer homes.

Dogs not over two feet long may ride in Vienna street cars hereafter. There are taxis if a man has to take home a full-length summer sausage.

"Have you a small bunch of violets or something for about a quarter?" inquired the thrifty youth of the florist. "I want to murmur it with flowers."

Egyptologists continue to make strange discoveries. None of these discoveries is as wonderful and significant as those being made daily in modern laboratories.

France is considering a law to mobilize men, women and money when the next war breaks out, throwing to the money provision for the benefit of international bankers.

Ben Franklin was a great and versatile man. Few can imitate all his qualities. Anybody can at least practice the virtues of thrift and industry be regarded as so important.

The magisterial ruling that a woman witness may smile on the jurors so long as the latter don't object should settle the matter for all time. Who is going to find fault with a smile?

There is a report from Germany that the former Kaiser will soon return to Berlin, presumably just in time to raise an army and start for China to down the yellow (or Red) peril.

The crockery set used for White House banquets is said to be practically intact after eight years, which is complimentary both to the guests and to whoever does the dishes after dinner.

X-raying of seeds is the latest stimulation method for obtaining bigger crops. In addition to all his other troubles, will the farmer have to worry over whether his X-ray apparatus will work right?

After all is said in connection with the discovery of an ancient tomb, little more is disclosed than the fact that it was the privilege of an ancient king to be the chief curiosity in a highly expensive museum.

Theaters, passenger trains, floods, earthquakes, hurricanes all record their frightful catastrophes with their long casualty lists. The glow alone seems to manifest at all times a kindly attitude toward human life.

Happy is the man who is too darned busy to feel sorry for himself.

Wild Lockman.

Oh, young Lockman has gone out to the West.
With a four gallon hat and a rabbit skin vest.
He'll get in the movies and hope they will fix him up.
Him up so he'll rival our young friend Tom Mix.

A policeman saw an old man beating a small boy.

"Why beat the boy?" he asked.
"Listen," replied the man. "I sent Isaac to the delicatessen, and gave him two quarters, one to buy fish, and the other to buy bread. Now he comes back after being away half an hour and wants to know which quarter is for the bread!"

The "murmuring brook" is probably murmuring "I'll be a river bye and bye."

Binks bought a new shirt and on a slip pinned to the inside found the name and address of a girl, with the words, "Please write and send photograph."

He wrote to the girl and sent her a picture of himself. In due course an answer came and with heart adutter Binks opened it. It was only a note:

"I was just curious to see," it read, "what kind of a fellow would wear such a funny shirt."

In The Spring.

In the spring a young man's fancy
Makes him amorous and bold;
In the spring he's wild and prancy,
Full of pep, and hard to hold.
In the spring, with secret laughter,
Some frail flapper sets her snare;
And the spring to him thereafter
Means just lighter underwear.

The man who does a thing wrong for thirty years certainly knows how to do it wrong.

Husband (reading aloud notice on hotel door): Have you left anything?

Wife: Oh, yes, dear, we might as well take the candlestick, too.

To be useful is to be happy.

Almost time for the spring poet to see his shadow.

Spring Fever.

Lazy in April? The charge is unjust! But the bookshelf is yearning for darkness and dust.

And the clock that was once so accurate and so slow
In a new, brisker rhythm is singing: "Let's Go!"

Lazy in April? I long for the trail Through the woods, or the field, where delights never fail; Where the travel is long ere you dine or you sup.

Lazy in April? I'm just waking up!

At 6 o'clock she laid out his dress suit and he didn't come. At 12 o'clock she laid out his pajamas and he didn't come. At 3 o'clock in the morning he came in and she laid him out.

Clarence (ardently): "When will you promise to share my lot, dear?" Gladys (sweetly): "Just as soon as you build a house on it, big boy!"

"What's the best cheek protector?" "A fountain pen that won't write."

If the women are really dressing to please themselves these days, it certainly doesn't take much to please them.

When spring's sweet note falls due there is no protest.

South Remond Church Services.

The services of the Methodist Church in South Remond were well attended last Sunday. The newly appointed pastor, the Rev. Samuel Anderson, preached. The evening theme was "Serving Others." Miss Olson, soprano soloist of the church, rendered a beautiful song with splendid effect. It is hoped that Miss Olson will sing again next Sunday. The choir and the congregation were very inspiring. Mr. Anderson will preach this coming Sunday. The evening theme will be "Making Sunday." Everybody is invited.

Then there is the kind of fellow who wears a declaration of independence in a corset.

The frame seems to be stabilized at a trifle less than four cents. The Lat in quarter remains at par.

One of the penalties of fame is that it whets the appetites of readers inclined to enjoy great events.

Establish Camp For Children

Camp at Maple Hill Will Care for Undernourished Children for Two Summer Months—Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs to Aid.

The members of the executive committee of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs met at the Kingston City Library on Thursday afternoon.

Following the routine business Dr. Day, as chairman of the public health committee, told those present of the proposed camp for undernourished children, to be operated two months this summer, and which would be made possible through the increased amount of money received from the last sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. Dr. Day made it plain that this camp would be for undernourished, not tubercular children.

A good location for such a camp, at Maple Hill, has been found and an excellent house, particularly suitable for the undertaking, contracted for, for the months of July and August. The house is situated in eighteen acres of land and there is a spring, the water of which the Kingston Laboratory has pronounced pure.

Twenty-five children will be taken for one month and then another twenty-five for the second month, each township in the county being given a certain quota of children that it may send to the camp. Already Dr. O'Connor has consented to act as medical supervisor and there will be a staff of necessary persons for the proper maintenance of the camp. Unfortunately the $1,200 appropriated by the tuberculosis committee will not, however, be a sufficient sum to equip and maintain the camp and there will be other ways and means devised to piece out this sum to a sufficient amount.

Dr. Day announced that the first of a series of benefit and card parties for the camp would be given by Mrs. Thomas Hayes and a group of interested women at the K. of C. Hall next Wednesday evening, April 27, beginning at 8 o'clock.

One new individual member was received into the Federation, Mrs. Maude Lambert Taylor.

Matters of political interest, within and without the Federation, were brought up by Mrs. Reed, chairman of the good government committee, and discussed at some length by those present.

It was voted to make such a contribution to the forthcoming Y. W. C. A. campaign as the state of the Federation treasury would permit.

If the terrific rumbling from the direction of Lisbon fails to produce a new government, it was an earthquake.

Nicaragua: A small Central American republic bisected by an imaginary canal and bounded on the east by marines.

A beauty contest has been held in Turkey. By this, friend and brother, you will gauge the onward march of western culture.

Fable: "Once upon a time a young book reviewer neglected to refer to a small collection of poems as a 'slim volume of verse.'"

Once Sold Oil as Indian Cure-All

Oil City, Pa.—Oil, once a sounding of industry, staged harrowing tours with Indian medicine shows in the days of its poverty before it put millions of automobiles on the road.

Alvin Watterman, who is eighty-one, recalls the medicine show incident. Watterman and his father skimmed a rainbow liquid from the surface of Oil Creek with wooden blankets in 1854. They wrung the crude oil into ale kegs and transported it to Pittsburgh on their river boat. There they sold it to mendicants who put it into attractive bottles with gaudy labels and belied it by the light of flaming torches as Rosacea or Rock oil "the original Indian medicine to cure all the ailments of man or beast." The sale was tremendous, Mr. Watterman declares.

OLD RUSSIAN OFFICERS KEEP THEIR ORGANIZATION

Traditions of Imperial Army Are Being Kept Alive by Exiles in Serbia and Bulgaria.

Belgrade.—How the traditions of the old Russian imperial army are being kept alive in exile and how its officers are being constantly replenished was revealed in an investigation recently completed by the Chicago Tribune correspondent.

Not only is the bulk of the old Wrangel corps officers undissipated, but many troops who took part in the Crimean disaster are being maintained in military units in various parts of Serbia and Bulgaria. Two cadet schools, which were established shortly after the Bolshevik revolution, continue their functions and have just graduated a class of 100 young officers who have been accepted into the Jugo-Slav army, while retaining their Russian nationality.

The cadet schools, in which the bulk of the professors are from the imperial school near Leningrad, are models of co-operation. The students are divided into two groups, each half working six months. Thus, while one group studies, it is supported by the other in employment. At the end of the half year, the students become workers, while the workers enter the classes as guests of the boys they have maintained in school.

The course is completed in four six-month terms, the students showing much greater enthusiasm and diligence than formerly when their parents supported them during their terms of study. The two schools bear the names of "Don" and "Crimea."

As for the troops, many regiments have been able to maintain complete organizations working in companies in the coal mines, India, Asia, and so forth, in Jugo-Slavia and Bulgaria. Several times every year they don their uniforms and go through a training period in preparation for the day when they will be able to return and evict the Bolshevik masters in Russia.

Seventy-two imperial regimental flags, saved from the revolution, have been deposited in the Russian church here and are guarded day and night.

20 Autos on $40 a Week Brings Divorce

Detroit, Mich.—Twenty automobiles in eleven years are too many for a husband to buy when his wife is forced to earn her own living as a waitress, Judge Theodore J. Richter, in the Circuit court, decided in granting a divorce to Mrs. Myrtle Lindsay.

Mrs. Lindsay testified that since her marriage to Andrew Lindsay on Christmas eve, 1926, she has been forced to go without clothes and other necessities because her husband insisted on spending all of his slender income on automobiles. Her husband makes from $35 to $40 a week in a foundry, she said.

"He is just an overgrown boy, and automobiles are pretty mechanical toys to him," Mrs. Lindsay told the court. "He would have every penny, until he had enough to make a down payment on a certain make of car. He would drive the machine for a month or so, and then get a new one of a different make. Most of the 20 automobiles were expensive.

"Down payments, gasoline and repair bills took all the money he could earn. I had to work as a waitress in a restaurant."

Women Protest Order by Employers to Bob Hair

Berlin, Germany.—Two hundred working girls and matrons are up in arms at Tannridge, Thuringia, over an attempt to introduce the bobbed head forcibly. At the local electric works a bulletin unexpectedly appeared to the effect that the women must have their hair bobbed or run the risk of being fired.

The women objected not so much to the idea of bobbed hair as to the expense of achieving and keeping it up. They pointed out that they were earning but 4 to 5 cents per hour, which means a weekly wage of about $2.

The barber's charge for a woman's haircut is 50 cents, or one-fourth of a week's wage, and the cost of keeping up the bob, they figure, amounts to about 37 cents per week.

Divorce by letter, as is now the rule in Russia, places a terrible responsibility on the postman.

A noted man is one who has abuse heaped upon him while alive and flowers when he is dead.

The weather man's ambition seems to be to make two cold waves grow where only one grew before.

Corbina Furnishes Sport
The corbina, or surf, is well known to beach fishermen on the Pacific coast. This fish, gamey and fastidious, the golden trout of the shore, is well worth the efforts of the sportsman. When hooked it will put up a splendid fight and will do everything except stand on its head to escape. During the season, rock worms and sand crabs are in great demand for corbina bait. Packages of bait are reserved days ahead by enthusiastic surf fishermen, and there is a great deal of competition for the largest fish.—H. H. Peterson in Adventure Magazine.

Electricity in the South
Tremendous forward strides in industry and agriculture that have been taken by the South are illustrated by the fact that five southeastern states, including Alabama and Georgia, increased their electric power consumption 2,500 per cent between 1912 and 1925. This is partially due to stimulation of farming, mining and steel making, and the fact that more than half the cotton weaving facilities of the nation are now in the South. It is anticipated that the increase in electric power consumption by 1935 will have reached 6,000 per cent.

Thoughtful Wife
A South Carver citizen offers this contribution as the best joke of the week. He arrived home from work to find himself locked out. After considerable trouble he succeeded in getting open a window, through which he entered and found a note from his wife on the table. The note read: "I have gone to the movies; will be back at 10:30. You will find the key under the big stone at the end of the door."—Benton Grim.

The book used to suffer in reputation from the stage acting objectionable, but it takes a long time to clean up today's book.

WHITE-COLLAR JOB
NOT ALWAYS BESTComparison of Youth in City and Country.

The woman's father, her grandfather and her great-grandfather, each in his turn, had cleared a piece of land, made a farm of it and wrestled from it a living for himself and his family. The woman herself had been born on a farm. Now she was visiting a branch of the family in the Middle West.

The farm work was in the hands of a seventeen-year-old son, and it was harvest time. The morning after the woman's arrival she was awakened by the sound of a tractor and a harvesting machine, and after breakfast she and her hostess, the boy's mother, went out to the field.

On the seat of the tractor sat the boy, driving, and beside him Rex, the dog, his tongue hanging out, and every muscle tense with interest and delight.

"It was a big field—acres and acres of grain," says the woman. "It had been no small task for the boy to sow and care for it, and it seemed to me a heavy undertaking for one of his age to harvest it. The machines made too much noise to allow us to talk, but every time he came round to where his mother and I were stacking the sheaves he smiled, and there was a look on his face that thrilled me. It said, 'I can do it!'"

"As he sat there on the seat of his tractor, swaying easily to the irregular motion, flushed with the heat and wet with sweat, he seemed to me to represent the very spirit of youth as we like to think of it, self-poised, confident and unconquerable; and the tractor seemed a more fitting chariot than a sport roadster would have been."

"Then I came back to the East and to the city and saw the long columns of little advertisements under the heading 'Situations Wanted.' 'Good-looking, well-dressed youth, quick at figures, desires position in bank.' 'Young man, high school and business college education, desires position as bookkeeper or stenographer.' And I found so many outstanding, sturdy, good-looking young men running elevators: 'I can't help wondering what future they see for themselves. To be sure, an elevator man is going up a part of the time, but he always comes down again; and it is not at the top that he comes to rest, but at the bottom.'"

"I find myself frequently recalling the picture of the boy on the tractor. He wasn't asking anyone for a job or a 'position.' He was making his own, and blessing it himself. Somehow he brings to mind the answer that Dallas O'Mara, the young artist of Edna Ferber's 'So Big,' made to the architect whose mother had smoothed his every path by her own hard work: 'Some day I'll probably marry a horn-handed son of a toll, and if I do I'll be the hands that will win me. I like 'em with the scars on them. There's something about a man who has fought for it; I don't know what it is—the look in his eye, the feel of his hand. He needn't have been successful, though he probably would be. I, well, you haven't a mark on you—not a mark. You're all smooth. I like 'em bumpy.'—'Youth's Companion."

General Suspicion
"It's a strange thing," said a New York actor, "but Rudolph Valentino always had a horror of appendicitis operations. He always suspected them. Well, since his death this suspicion keeps growing sharper and sharper in the general public's mind. 'Fact is, the general public's attitude towards appendicitis is illustrated in a paragraph in a country weekly that said: 'Our esteemed fellow-townsmen, H. Smith Jones, president of the First National bank and proprietor of the Jones blast furnaces, will be operated on tomorrow for appendicitis by the world-renowned surgeon, Cutler Perry. M. D. Mr. Jones will leave a widow and three children.'—Detroit Free Press."

Wise-Cracking Nut
"Two naval balloonists were drifting low over land one day," writes Lieut. Walter Hinton, famous aviator, in an article in Liberty. "Passing a group of buildings that appeared to be an almshouse or possibly an institution for the demented, they sought to determine their exact location by learning its name. One of them leaned over the edge of the basket and shouted to a man on the ground: 'Hey, there! Where are we?' 'Throwing back his head until the aeronauts could see his collar button, the man replied: 'Ah, you can't feel me; you're up there in that balloon, and I am not half so crazy as you.'"

Thirteen o'Clock
In Poe's famous tale, "The Hound in the Bellry," a sensation is caused in the quaint Dutch town of Tanderburg when the tower clock strikes thirteen. But thirteen o'clock has become a European commonplace. The state railroads and postal service and telegraphs of the German reich have now decided to adopt the twenty-four-hour clock, already in use in France, Italy and other countries. In speech, however, the old system generally maintains, thirteen o'clock still being called one o'clock and twenty-four o'clock twelve. The twenty-four o'clock arrangement applies largely to rail.

Purposes of New Foundation

New York, April 22 (AP).—Expenditure of millions of dollars in establishment of a philanthropic institution, designed to eventually surpass in scope the Rockefeller and Carnegie foundations, is outlined by John Markie, retired coal operator, in the New York American today.

Almost every form of scientific and medical research work, educational activity and welfare enterprise will share in the John and Mary Markie foundation, to be started with a contemplated initial fund of $5,000,000, says the American. Plans of incorporation were to be filed in Albany today.

Purposes of the foundation include creation and maintenance of medical research centers, hospitals, charitable institutions and educational agencies, study of disease and development of methods of eradication, support of libraries and assistance to destitute individuals.

Establishment of the foundation is another step in the philosophy of the founder that every dollar earned in excess of living costs becomes a trust for fellow men.

No Pleasure in Trip With Horse and Buggy

The passing of the horse has been brought again to attention through the experiment of a New England farmer who has hitherto resisted the metallic call of the motor car. His experiences in making a 100 mile trip with a horse and buggy are recounted by the Woman's Home Companion.

When he last jogged over the same route 42 years ago, it was a simple enough journey, with pleasant leisure on the highway and simplified comfort at the wayside inns. But this time the 100-mile drive was a queer stunt, racking the nerves and even fraught with hardships.

Refreshment for man and beast, the traveler soon learned, is now but a tradition. There is still plenty for man if his digestion be strong, what with hot dog stands and chicken-and-waffle houses, but where is the kindly watering trough? Oil and gas flow at every cross-roads, but oats and hay have become scarce and elusive. Where once the hitching post stood sturdy and staunch, the "No Parking" sign now leans from behind a double row of parked cars.

The old farmer reports that every hotel now boasts its garage, but the clerk raises an eyebrow when he is asked to stable a horse. The farmer found himself constantly crowded into the ditch by whizzing automobiles. The hard paving made the horse's feet sore, and by the end of the 100 miles all four shoes were worn out.

Whiskers and Decadence

Representative La Guardia was talking about Mussolini's recent declaration that whiskers mean decadence.

"There's a story that bears Mussolini out," said Mr. La Guardia, "for it shows that whiskers mean uncleanness, and what is more decadent than that?"

"The scene of this story is a brigand's camp in Sicily. A brigand points his knife at a young Roman captive and says to his baldheaded old chief:

"That pioneer there, chief, comb his hair every morning. Haw, haw, haw."

"The chief looked astonished.

"How can the fellow stand it?" he said. "Why, I only comb my whiskers once a month, and then it nearly pulls my chin off."

Youthful Expert

Little Margaret Hill, of Portland, Maine, is believed to be the youngest talking machine operator. She is two years old and she has been operating the machine since she was one and one-half, having taught herself and become an expert in the face of strenuous opposition. She winds the machine, deftly places the record, and adjusts the needles and so one is quicker to detect when it is running down. She treats herself and her family to long concerts ranging from operatic arias to rhymes and jingles by Mother Goose. Her latest achievement was tuning in on the radio, says the Boston Globe.

Plan Historic Carving

Mount Rushmore, in the Black hills of South Dakota, will have huge busts of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt carved out of its granite face to commemorate important phases of American history. Congress has approved the project, which was originally intended to be a national monument to Washington. An unusual interest in the plan resulted in the present arrangement, which is devised to perpetuate the founding of the country, its expansion, its preservation and the digging of the Panama canal. Each figure will be sixty feet high.

Wind Played Little Joke

A Pittsfield (Mass.) paragon was awakened by the roar of a fire whistle which shattered the early Sabbath silence. Hastily slipping from bed, he rushed to a front window to see what the sky might tell him. In the meantime a gentle breeze closed his bedroom door. The spring lock snapped and the paragon was left out in the cold parish house with his boys and his clothes beyond his reach. And there he stayed for more than two hours until old arrived in the form of the paragon with an extra key, relates the Boston Globe.

"In the dead of winter," the old man went on, "we covered the great western plain in a covered wagon." "Actually," remarked his grandson, "the cold weather you need a closed car."

MILLONIG-MILLS RECITAL TUESDAY

A joint recital will be given at the St. James M. E. Church on Tuesday evening, April 24, at 8:15 o'clock. The pianist, Gladys Raehle Millonig, is one of Kingston's young ambitious musicians. As a teacher in Kingston she has trained her pupils for several exceptional programs. During her high school days and at the graduating exercises of 1924 her talent for music was shown. Upon entering New Paltz Normal, Mrs. Millonig immediately made use of her music and upon many important occasions she was found on the programs of the school's entertainments.

For the past year Mrs. Millonig has been an artist pupil of Mrs. Clara Chichester of Woodstock during which time she prepared the program to be given for Tuesday evening.

Walter Mills, the baritone soloist of the recital, has been trained entirely in the United States and is a singer who stands for all that an American artist should. The season of 1925 and 1926 Mr. Mills was engaged in singing abroad. Musical critics of Berlin, Paris and London praised his powerful voice and his capability of using it so masterfully.

This season Mr. Mills spent on a southern tour and many return engagements. Concertgoers at Columbia University and the Baltimore Hotel have been generous with their praise since his return to New York city. Dan Dickinson, accompanist for Mr. Mills, will be with him at the St. James Church musicale. Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Beef Favorite Meat

In a recent survey of American kitchens undertaken by the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States Department of Agriculture to determine the preferences of the meat-consuming public in sixteen representative cities, two-thirds of the native white populations put beef first on their marketing list. Pork, lamb and veal came next in the order named. Five per cent of this group ate no meat at all. This vegetarian tendency was noted by the home economics experts to increase as the standard of living of the families rose.

Makes 1,500 Arrests

James Black, ex-superintendent of police of Birmingham, England, recently celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of the day he joined the city police force. He has arrested more than 1,500 criminals, ranging from petty thefts to murder and treason. His first important case was that of Michael Davitt, who smuggled arms into Ireland in 1870. Black's diary for the thirteen years following contains records of Fenian plotters and of his thwarting of attempts to blow up the houses of parliament and government buildings in Whitehall.

One thing we'd like to hear is a Russian brakeman informing the passengers that the next stop will be Avatchinskayaopka.

Ulsterdorp Herd Pass T. B. Tests

Over one hundred head of the Ulsterdorp cattle were tuberculin tested at the farm of Miss Grace Van B. Roberts, near Highland, on Thursday by Dr. Kehr of Hopewell Junction, Mrs. Corke, of the New York State Medical Health Commission, and Dr. Ross of New York city health department and Inspector Land, also of the New York health department.

The subcutaneous test, which is required by the New York city health department, was given the cattle from 9 a. m. on Wednesday continuously until 3 p. m. on Thursday. All of the cattle passed the test together with the requirements of the intradermal test.

The herd passed the same tests last year, which are the requisites of the New York Department of Farms and Markets.

First Testotal Pledge

On the death of Thomas Cook, founder of the famous tourist agency, his executors presented the piece of paper on which was written the first testotal pledge, a document he greatly prized, to the late Sir George Williams, founder of the Y. M. C. A., who was at the time president of the Band of Hope union. On September 1, 1922, this pledge will reach its centenary, for it is just over 94 years since seven advocates of total abstinence from intoxicating liquors signed their names under the following pledge: "We agree to abstain from all liquors of an intoxicating quality, whether ale, porter, wine, or ardent spirits, except as medicine."

Rodin's Masterpiece

The original study of Rodin's "The Thinker," a small statue intended to have been placed over a doorway, is in the Rodin museum, in France. The first cast in heroic size, displayed originally in 1904, was purchased by the French government and stands in front of the Pantheon in Paris. There are five others, all made from the original mold, on this continent. One stands at the entrance of the Cleveland Museum of Art, one in Golden Gate park, San Francisco, another in Baltimore, the fourth at the Detroit Institute of Arts, and the fifth in Buenos Aires.

Scott's First Novel

"Waverley" was the first of the series of famous novels written by Sir Walter Scott, produced in 1814. The secret of the authorship was well kept for years. The book gives a fine picture of the hopes and fears that animated political parties in Great Britain in 1745, the year of the uprising led by Charles Stuart, the Young Pretender. Its name is taken from Waverley, near Hindhead, in Surrey, England.

Ozark Mountains

The upland area commonly spoken of as the Ozark mountains or the Ozarks lies mainly in southern Missouri and is separated from the Appalachians by the lowlands of the Mississippi basin and from the Rocky mountains by the Great plains. The United States geological survey says that the Ozarks are not regarded by geologists as a part of either system, but as a distinct unit.

THE FIRE DRAGON

WILL PATRONIZE

Both afternoon and evening performances were well patronized at the Kingston Theatre on Thursday. The attraction was "The Fire Dragon," starring Max Adams and Charles Ray, in which dramatic, thrilling, hard-boiled and heroic scenes are very well depicted. A portion of the proceeds of the performance will be turned over to the Kingston Fire Company. In connection with the thrilling picture a program of Keith-Albee musical comedies, vaudeville, dancing and musical numbers is shown.

Financial and Commercial
 New York, April 22 (AP).—Frequent shifts of speculative sentiment characterized today's stock market, with a rather persistent demand for a selected list of industrials and rails in which special developments are believed to be pending.
 Considerable irregularity developed in the early trading, due to the spottiness of general business conditions, but sentiment improved later in the day when General Motors, Du Pont, General Electric, Frisco, common, Delaware and Hudson and other recent favorites were bid up to record high levels.
 Banks called about $25,000,000 in loans, but this was believed to reflect only the usual heavy week end demands for currency. Bankers generally predict a sustained period of easy money rates, but opinion in conservative circles inclines to the theory that reduction in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate is likely.
 Steel and oil shares bore the brunt of the early selling pressure, but scattered liquidation also took place in the motors and a number of specialties. Commercial Solvents broke from an early high of 345 to 335 1/2 and then rebounded about 5 points.
 Southwestern rails were again in brisk demand. Outstanding individual strength was shown by "Katy" common, Frisco common, Gulf, Mobile and Northern, Delaware and Hudson and Erie second preferred.

Spouted Oats for Hens
Is Most Excellent Plan
 There is nothing in the world that will make the old hens feel as much like spring in here as a box of spouted oats every day, experienced poultrymen say. Spouting oats is not necessarily expensive or a lot of bother. Equipment may be homemade. A tub or keg will do to soak the oats in. Five or six boxes about 4 inches deep will do for the trays. A room which ranges from 50 to 80 degrees in temperature all the time is satisfactory. Soak the oats 12 hours in the tub or keg. Drain them and put them in a box where they should be kept moist until the sprouts are about 1/2 inch long. Feed them at that time, which is usually about five days after they are put to soak. Five or six boxes will make it possible to start a box each day and weed one regularly.

Green Feed Is Perfect for Poultry in Winter
 Many poultry raisers are now feeding mash to their hens, but a lack of palatable, succulent feed is too often the limiting factor in winter poultry raising. Spouted oats are one of the best forms of succulence. The Nebraska Agricultural college poultrymen offer the following suggestions: Good heavy oats with strong germinating power produce best results. Soak the oats for about 24 hours. Drain off excess moisture. Turn into hard top or candy pail which has holes in bottom to allow excess moisture to drain off. Add moisture later if necessary. Keep in fairly even moderate temperature. Feed when the sprouts are out-half to one inch long ("greening" is unnecessary).

Ration for Goslings
 A ration recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture for goslings up to eight weeks of age is equal parts by measure of bran, middlings and steamed corn clover or cooked vegetables. Feed morning, noon and night. If it is desirable to fatten them at this age or at ten weeks of age, they should be placed in the pen where they will not exercise too much, and fed corn meal mixed to a dry crumbly state, and beef scrap amounting to 20 per cent of the bulk of the corn meal.

Culling in the Spring
 A little more culling in the spring may take out a few hens that do not look as good as breeders and layers as they did last fall. Sometimes a few hens become too fat. Maybe one or two will be heavy and listless and fail to scratch for grain or come from the roost promptly in the morning. A little about the condition of a flock can be told by opening the house suddenly on a sunny day. Watch the good hens flock out and begin to enjoy the range.

Better Hatching Eggs
 A new requirement which must be met before eggs will hatch well, even under the best care, is called to the attention of poultry raisers by the investigators at the Missouri College of Agriculture. This new requirement is that the eggs must be from hens that have been fed a ration containing certain vitamins. Though not fully understood, the vitamins are substances that have a very important effect on the animal that eats these foods.

POULTRY
THAWING FROZEN COMBS IS EASY
 "Thaw frozen combs of poultry by applying snow or ice water," say poultrymen at the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. "Carbolated grease, which may be purchased at most drug stores, will do the trick. A New Jersey agricultural bulletin suggests the following ointment: Five parts of refined petroleum, three parts of glycerin, and one part of turpentine by volume. This should be applied gently and rubbed in fairly well. Remove the black dead tissue from badly frozen combs, so that they will heal more quickly.
 "At this time of year many flocks suffer from frozen combs. This trouble is particularly bad with roosters of the single-comb White Leghorn breed because their combs are so big. If a rooster's comb is badly frozen, it seriously affects his vigor and impairs his usefulness in the flock."
 Poultrymen at the state college say that the best farmers in the state put their roosters in the breeding pens early in the winter and watch them carefully during the coldest weather so as to minimize the danger of freezing. The college recommends curtains in front of the roost on very cold nights in narrow houses. This is not recommended in houses that are wider than 15 feet. Another suggestion is the use of wooden floats with l-inch holes in them to be placed in the drinking vessels. This reduces the danger of freezing, as it keeps the birds from dipping their wattles in the water when they drink.
 In exceptional cases, it may be well to grease the combs and wattles of especially valuable birds during cold weather. The pens should be kept well ventilated at all times.

Wintry Weather In Western N. Y.
 Buffalo, N. Y., April 22 (AP).—Winter temperatures prevailed in most parts of western New York today, in contrast to the summery atmosphere of three days ago, and winter itself came back to Chautauque county with a light fall of snow. The lowest temperature recorded at this local weather bureau so far this week came at 7 a. m. today when 38 degrees was chalked up, and freezing conditions were predicted by night. The highest temperature of the week, 78 degrees, was reached on Monday.

Body of Boy Found in Woods
 Pulaaki, N. Y., April 22 (AP).—Discovery late Thursday of the body of three year old Julian Leszczynski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignaci Leszczynski of this village, in a dense patch of woods, near here, clears up the mystery of the lad's disappearance on October 1, 1926. The verdict of the coroner is that death was due to starvation and exposure.
 The child, born January, 1924, in Rome, N. Y., disappeared the afternoon of October 1 last, and a state wide search was conducted for him. The belief was expressed at that time that he had been kidnapped.
 Discovery of the body yesterday was made by George Daygar as he was cutting through the woods to go fishing.

Mrs. Valentine was born in Napanoch in 1847. Her husband died about thirty years ago. She is survived by one daughter, Miss M. Gwendolyn Valentine, of New York city. A brother, Charles Schoonmaker of Ellenville, and a half-sister, Mrs. Jennie C. Hampton, of New York, also survive.

Wintry Weather In Western N. Y.
 Buffalo, N. Y., April 22 (AP).—Winter temperatures prevailed in most parts of western New York today, in contrast to the summery atmosphere of three days ago, and winter itself came back to Chautauque county with a light fall of snow. The lowest temperature recorded at this local weather bureau so far this week came at 7 a. m. today when 38 degrees was chalked up, and freezing conditions were predicted by night. The highest temperature of the week, 78 degrees, was reached on Monday.

Body of Boy Found in Woods
 Pulaaki, N. Y., April 22 (AP).—Discovery late Thursday of the body of three year old Julian Leszczynski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignaci Leszczynski of this village, in a dense patch of woods, near here, clears up the mystery of the lad's disappearance on October 1, 1926. The verdict of the coroner is that death was due to starvation and exposure.
 The child, born January, 1924, in Rome, N. Y., disappeared the afternoon of October 1 last, and a state wide search was conducted for him. The belief was expressed at that time that he had been kidnapped.
 Discovery of the body yesterday was made by George Daygar as he was cutting through the woods to go fishing.

Barley Case Going to Jury

Mrs. Lucy Barker Barley, charged with murder of her husband, will probably be placed in the hands of the jury this evening.

New York, N. Y., April 22 (AP).—The case of Mrs. Lucy Barker Barley, charged with murder of her husband, Daniel F. Barley, by giving him arsenic, will probably be placed in the hands of the jury this evening.

After the case had been reopened in the forenoon to permit the introduction of additional rebuttal testimony, District Attorney Lemos, the defense attorney, Henry Hirschberg, and his summation, which was resumed at the afternoon session. Hirschberg raised a question of whether that Barley had died of the state of the poison, and attacked the state's experts for what he termed their negligence in not getting into every possible cause of death. Prosecution witnesses had said that traces of arsenic found in the body indicated Barley had consumed a large quantity of the poison.

William Wegley, who contends that he purchased the arsenic at the request of Mrs. Barley, asserted on stand that he gave her the arsenic on March 8, 1936. Hirschberg declared that Barley's symptoms of illness had been the same since that date as after it.

Priming Before Atlantic Flight

New York, April 22 (AP).—Four carefully guarded airplanes like lone thoroughbreds before a barrier jockeyed today on flying fields in America and France, undergoing final priming before they hop off on their projected 3,600 mile flight across the Atlantic.

As daily tests brought the machines nearer perfection, a start by two of the planes seemed possible at any time within the next few days. The Bellanca monoplane which recently set a new world endurance record, was reported to be ready to start as soon as it was loaded, while advice from Paris said Captain Charles Nungesser, famous French flyer, was awaiting only favorable weather.

The Bellanca plane is undergoing final tests at Curtiss Field, L. I., after being equipped with earth induction compass, drift indicator, altimeter, turn and bank indicators and almost every other accessory for a long cruise. Food and gasoline requirements already have been estimated.

Meanwhile Commander Noel Davis at Langley Field, Va., is conducting daily tests with his plane, "American Legion," experimenting with wood and metal propellers in the attempt to ascertain which will provide the greater speed with least consumption of fuel.

While the American teams pushed preparations, Captain Nungesser and M. Drouhin, formerly one of the holders of the endurance record, carried on their work preliminary to projected flights from Paris to New York.

Drouhin's preparations have been made in secret and it is not known how near he may be to a starting date.

Legion Card Party.
The ladies of the Ulster County Auxiliary of the American Legion will hold a card party in the Memorial Building on West O'Reilly street this evening. The ladies extend a cordial welcome to the public to join in the games. Playing will start at 8 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

Height of Children
American boys are taller by at least two inches than were young stars of the stage age fifty years ago, according to Dr. Horace Gray of the Institute for Juvenile Research in Chicago, who has measured more than one thousand boys of American-born parents, between six and eighteen years of age, and compared their heights with those of boys measured in 1877 by another scientist. The apparent increase in height is attributed chiefly to the newly acquired knowledge concerning the control of disease. Infantile afflictions, which frequently impede growth, are said to be more amenable to treatment now than they were in the past.

Find Cathedral Ruins in Greenland Colony

Within a hundred miles of Cape Farewell, at Julianaband, in Greenland, lie the remains of the greatest Scandinavian cathedral except that of old Trondheim in Norway.

Doctor Norland of Copenhagen has been spending some time making excavations there, and he found the foundations of the cathedral. They are nearly a hundred feet long.

In one of the chapels of the cathedral the body of a bishop has been found in full canonicals, with a ring on the finger and a crook made of walrus tusk. He probably lived about 1200 A. D.

Perhaps even more interesting than the cathedral is the episcopal palace close by. It must have been the largest building in Greenland except the home of the founder of the colony, Eric the Red, at Brattalid. The front is 100 feet long. The palace and its outbuildings cover three acres, and there is accommodation for a hundred cattle as well as for horses, sheep and pigs.

It is realized that the old Greenland settlement was on a bigger scale than has hitherto been supposed. There must have been three or four thousand farms.

Nail Used in Homes of Prehistoric Man

When you drive a nail into your wall to hang a picture on, do you ever pause to think that you are using something with a history almost as old as that of humanity itself?

A nail, over two and a half pounds in weight, and thick in proportion, was found in the ruins of Troy. And similar enormous nails have been recovered from the remains of lake dwellings and other places where prehistoric man made his home.

All nails were originally made at home. Then, when the smith became a specialist craftsman, he made the nails of the community, until a special nail-smith started in business. In the fifteenth century there was a guild of nail-smiths in Augsburg. The first nail-making machine was invented in Britain at the end of the eighteenth century, and a little later the first nail factories were at work in Birmingham.

Bad Peddler Made Good
The yarns about Yankee clock peddlers are legion. Perhaps the most amusing is the one about the peddler who always sold a clock on the understanding that he would return in a few weeks, and, if the clock did not run satisfactorily, would replace it with another. It was also his rule to sell all the clocks in his stock but one. When he reached the end of his route he turned back with his one remaining clock. At the first house the clock he had sold did not run, so he replaced it with the one that remained. At the second house he replaced the unsatisfactory clock with the one he had taken from the first house. And so on he went, selling and replacing clocks that never would work, and waxing fat on the proceeds!—From "Hawkers and Walkers," by Richardson Wright.

Dansville—Once upon a time firemen in some country towns had to hunt up horses before they could respond to a fire with their apparatus, but now, believe the Dansville smoke eaters, they must hunt up a driver for their motor truck. They were late at a fire yesterday because they couldn't find one.

Buffalo—When employees of the Buffalo Engraving Company were asked to make an engraving for Antonio Mancuso, they became suspicious of the design, and found that it was intended for one portion of a Canadian $10 bill. Mancuso was arrested on a counterfeiting charge. He had previously been convicted for a similar offense.

Pioneer Club Buys Rifton Property

The Boys' and Girls' Pioneer Club of America recently purchased the property at Rifton formerly occupied by Grand View Inn, which burned to the ground some time ago. The association will erect a large building on the land which covers 108 acres. The camp will be ready for occupancy. It is expected, by June 15. There will be grounds upon which various games may be played and bathers will also be provided for. Next season bungalows will be built on the property.

ROUNDOUT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ELECTS OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the church and congregation of the Roundout Presbyterian Church was held Thursday evening in the chapel. The meeting was preceded by the serving of a chicken pie supper by the Ladies' Aid Society. At the business meeting that followed Herbert T. Van Deusen, S. H. Peyer and Charles Terwilliger were elected trustees. Brief reports were submitted by the heads of the various church organizations which showed that the church has had a very encouraging year. During the evening old time songs were sung under the leadership of Frank J. Powley with S. D. Scudder, Jr., at the piano.

FUR STORAGE

The North Pole—
Ideal Storage Spot
BUT HARD TO REACH

Your valuable furs are as safe in our storage vaults as if they were at the North Pole.

We store your furs during the Spring and Summer—a simple statement, but one that implies the utmost in modern, scientific protection. It means safety from moths, moisture and dust. It means complete insurance against fire. And it means the elimination of all trouble and worry on your part—at a cost that is truly low for the protection it gives.

A phone call will bring our representative to your door when you are ready to store your furs. Call 1098-J.

REPAIRING AND REMODELING

You will also find the summer months an excellent time for having your last year's furs repaired and remodeled into advanced designs. We will cheerfully furnish suggestions and estimates on such work for you. Our prices are commendably low.

All furs brought into this store for storage, repairing, remodeling, cleaning or glazing, will first undergo our special process of de-mothing—without extra charge to the customer. This process also destroys any disease germs that may have become lodged in the fur.

SOUPS FROM CHICKEN

Chicken broth soup is the basis for many kinds of the most delicious soups in combination with other meat flavors. Alone, as chicken soup the flavor is always acceptable.

The following are a few soups a little out of the ordinary:

Vermont Chicken Soup.—Reheat six cupsful of chicken broth, seasoning with salt, pepper and a grated onion. Add one head of lettuce, shredded, and one cupful of green peas. Simmer until the vegetables are done. Simmer an egg, add enough stale bread crumbs to make a paste and shape into balls. Drop these into the boiling soup and simmer ten minutes, then serve.

New Jersey Chicken Soup.—Reheat three quarts of chicken soup. Simmer one cupful of rice in broth until tender, rub through a sieve, season and reheat. Add one tablespoonful of butter to one tablespoonful of cornstarch, cook until smooth and add with a half cupful of minced chicken and a cupful of rich milk. Serve hot with croutons.

New Orleans Soup.—Cut up a chicken, dredge the pieces with flour and fry brown in butter or with salt pork. Add four quarts of water and cook until the chicken is tender, or nearly so. Add two slices of boiled ham cut into bits, a pod of red pepper, two quarts of sliced okra and half a can of tomatoes. Simmer until the chicken is done, season with salt and pepper and add one teaspoonful of powdered saffron.

Chicken Soup Hollandaise.—Cut two cucumbers into dice, two carrots and two small turnips; cover with a quart of chicken stock and cook until the vegetables are tender. Season to taste, add a tablespoonful of butter and thicken with the yolks of four eggs beaten smooth with a cupful of cream. Pour into the tureen and add half a cupful each of cooked green peas and French beans.

Appetizer soup is prepared just as one does cream of potato soup, adding three teaspoonfuls of tomato catsup just before serving.

Check Butterfly Taffeta for This Charming Dress

A smart dress of check butterfly taffeta is in the fashion tonight for spring wear. This is one of the latest modes.

Belt and Sash Figure in Late Paris Styles

In an elaborate evening dress of embroidered satin, Lanvin has placed a strap belt stitched flat around the normal waist line of the bodice, arbitrarily and frankly. The subject of belts intrigues this famous couturier, for several of her spring models are belted or swathed with some form of sash. In a soft woolen gown of black, in the new shade of olive green called chocolate, Oliver Robins is seen along the edge of the plaited skirt and the plain bodice is slightly flared with a sash of the material, which is drawn across fashionably, under the hips and tied in a lifted movement with a bow at one side. Nicole Givron belts the straight jacket of a spring suit just a little below the normal waist line. Chantal goes in belt of plain material stretched in up wide curves lines to join a soft crop blouse in a new plaited skirt in a plaid pattern. In the use of the belt alone an extremely graceful appearance in a frock made of cupped curves of two shades to form a checked pattern.

There are only two kinds of married men in the world. Those who love their wives and marry and those who marry and then love their wives.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Diagonal Tucking, Intricate Pleating, Smocking and Shirring, to say Nothing of Applique and Drawn Work, Are Again the Mode.

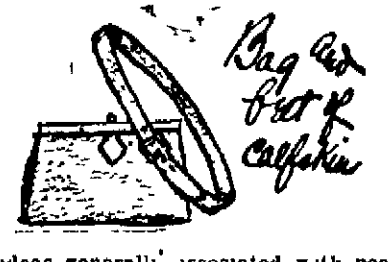

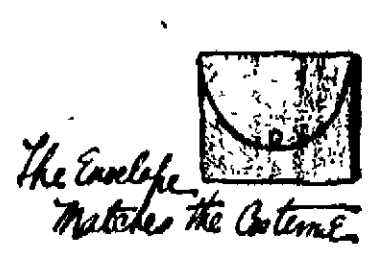

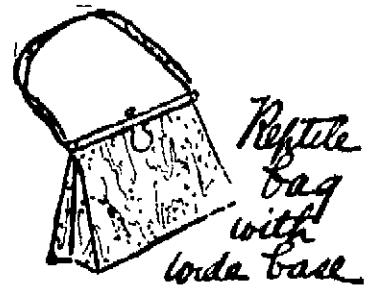

New York—Pleats, having won their spurs, show no intention of relinquishing their enviable positions as the premier decorative feature of the year.

One could almost count on one's fingers the number of skirts encountered that are not pleated wholly or in part while all manner of pleated ruffles and pleated jumpers and coats and what not appear to add to the complications of keeping one's self well dressed.

Pleats are smart, but the up-keep of the pleated dress is as correspondingly high as the up-keep of the hair, which must be perpetually waved. Many of the best-looking frocks are trimmed now with pleated ruffles, or else have tucks that have all sorts of unexpected directions, mostly short cut from side to side for diagonal lines are in high favor.

On the crest of the wave that brought tucks and pleats from Paris, came also smocking. One finds the ideas generally associated with peasant dresses used on gowns that seem very exalted versions of such a humble origin. Both smocking and shirring are held in high esteem. It is not at all unusual to find an entire jumper shirred, or a pleated skirt springing from a mass of smocking that may be done in a contrasting silk.

All of these details imply that the way of the amateur dressmaker is hard. These are not only all the aforementioned decorative effects, but various appliques and any amount of hand-drawn work, hemstitching, and so on, the hemstitching usually introduced on the two-piece sports dress. Several pleated skirts, with hemstitched hems of a contrasting color, were noted in the South last winter, this trimming being repeated for the jumper.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Youthful Model.

4445. Plain silk and velvet are here combined. The style is also attractive in crepe satin, or in moiré with geometric or wave designs. The fabric is cut in 2 sizes, 14, 16, and 20 years. An 18 year size will require 1 1/2 yds. and of 40 inch material for the bodice, and 2 1/2 yards for the skirt if made as illustrated. The width of the dress at the lower edge with plait extended is 2 1/2 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Oatmeal

the rich source of so much children need

A bowl of Mother's Oats with milk makes a rich contribution to children's development. Not just energy—not just the muscle-enduring building element called protein.

Get oatmeal, too.

And vitamins.

And the tender oat-bloss.

These two often-neglected factors are highly important, according to modern discoveries in nutrition. They are necessary for normal growth in children—which usually means normal sleep, normal play, and normal program studies.

And for good health in grown-ups.

Mother's Oats are natural whole-grain food; healthy and easily digested by small children. You can count on it always to cook up smooth and even, and you will love its rich flavor. Two kinds. Quick (cooks in 2 1/2 to 3 minutes) and the kind you have always known. Both with oatmeal bran—changeable with Aunt Jemima's oatmeal, delicious for protein, vitamins, and iron, etc.

Scarf Collars on Coat or Gown Much in Favor

Scarf collars, whether on coat or gown, tie at front, back or side of the neck and are very much in favor. Philippe & Gaston present a variation of this style by making their scarf of plissé. In one case they use a plissé scarf of navy blue with red velvet.

Our jazz age receives its tribute in a gown of beige georgette, made with loose panels from each shoulder to waist in plissé stripes, red and brown. The collar is red and brown, the plissé skirt banded in these two colors, and a narrow strip of red is inserted above the belt to hold symmetrical notes embroidered in red and brown—notes that a full jazz orchestra, complete in concert piano and microphone, embroidered on the belt, are evidently supposed to be sounding. A short box jacket in ostrich hide, dyed brown and lined in beige georgette, completes this bizarre ensemble.

New Soft Wool, Satin, Used for Spring Coats

New coats brought out for spring reflect in line, details and color the latest points of the new mode. Materials tend toward the new soft wool, although a number of the newest coats are of heavy satin in black or black tones and in rich silk. Much interest attaches to the use of furs that are a bit different. Not that they are new—that would be quite impossible—but that they are treated and the use of dyes they have been given a different aspect.

Many of the newest straight-line coats of black tulle are trimmed with silky shawls for and softly embroidered to swirl threads in decorative motifs. Others follow the new custom made in using synthetic blend, in varied shades, that seem to write the shade of the material.

It would be interesting, not to say instructive, to know how many persons have their real location in the land of sleeping in a topographic map in the middle.

Cinderella Ball at Armory Tonight

Everything is in readiness for the Cinderella Ball and Mardi Gras at the state armory this evening. All attendance records are likely to be broken when the doors of the armory open at 7:30 to admit the throng. Elaborate preparations have been made for Kingston's first Cinderella Ball and Mardi Gras and indications point to a tremendous success for the event. It is undoubtedly the greatest social festival of fun and music ever attempted in this city.

Four orchestras headed by John Erne's Imperial Broadcasting Orchestra, will furnish the music for dancing. There will also be Otto's Blue Ridge Serenaders, Cinderella's Own Band and the famous Mardi Gras Augmented Orchestra. The ball will open at 8 o'clock with the sensational appearance of Cinderella and Prince Charming in elaborate costume and surrounded by their fairyland court of more than 150 Kingston children. Their identity will be revealed and the big event will be under way. Between dance numbers, seven vaudeville and specialties will be interspersed. The acts have been arranged by Miss Helen Cashion and Vincent Van Bramer and will reveal some of the best juvenile talent ever seen in this city. The acts are varied and sensational and are bound to please.

A committee consisting of Mayor E. J. Dempsey, Sheriff Arthur Rice, former City Judge Harry E. Schrick, former Alderman Henry Maccholdt, Miss Helen Cashion and Vincent Van Bramer will sit as a court of judges to select "Miss Kingston" from the fairest of Kingston. The chosen young lady will be presented with a beautiful loving cup donated by Oppenheimer Brothers, Broadway Jewelers. She will also be crowned Queen of the Mardi Gras.

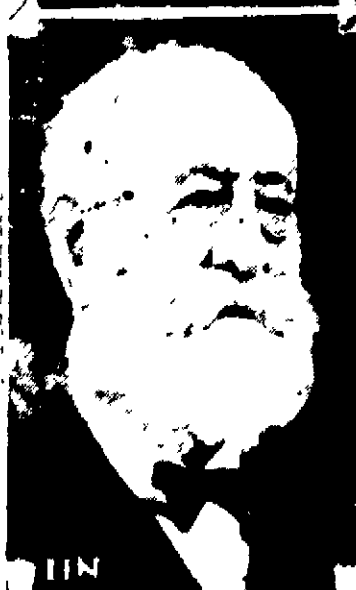

The armory has been beautifully decorated for the event and throughout the large auditorium there is a tinge of fairyland and mystery into which the multitude will dance and enter into the spirit of the Mardi Gras.

Throughout the evening there will be more than 100 novelties, and these fun provoking and noise making devices will give the event a spirit of gaiety never before equalled in this city.

As a dramatic closing for the event, the management announces a live baby will be given away and throughout the city there has been wide speculation as to the significance of the promise to present somebody in the throng with a real live baby.

With the tumbling of fairyland palace and all its splendours, the old and the young who attend tonight's event at the armory are bound to have an evening of fun, melody and music. The Red Men and Odd Fellows have worked hard to make it a success, and indications are that the armory will be filled to capacity.

OUTSTANDING FIGURES IN AMERICAN HISTORY.

Selected in a Contest at St. Bonaventure College.

St. Bonaventure, N. Y., April 22 (P)—Eight of the most outstanding figures in American history, in the opinion of students of St. Bonaventure College here, have been selected in a contest which closed today. Those chosen were: Christopher Columbus, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, Henry W. Longfellow, Junipero Serra, Franciscan missionary and California pioneer, and Cardinal Gibbons.

The two latter men were included in the list of scores of names submitted by reason of the fact that the college is Catholic. Many other ecclesiastical figures were mentioned, among them a number of early missionaries to the New World. Names of those selected will be inscribed on plaques to be placed at the entrance to Devereaux Hall, a new dormitory now under construction at the college.

Winners of the contest, from whose papers the names are chosen, were: James M. Powers, Oil City, Pa.; Philip McCool, Paterson, N. J.; Cyril J. Kritzer, Avoca, Pa.; Eduardo Price, Dubois, Pa.; J. Gerald Griffin, Olean, N. Y.; and John R. Keating, Oil City, Pa. The names were selected by a committee of 15 faculty members, both clergymen and laymen.

A suit over an estate in New York revealed the information that an original investment of $21 by Solomon Silberstein grew into an estate of $6,000,000 within a few years. He couldn't have grown rich faster if he had been farming.

The Bride's Wedding Ring

AT ONE time was a plain circle of gold. Many plain circles of gold are still used, but a carved wedding ring in gold or platinum is now very popular and many of the designs are beautifully symbolic of the marital ceremony. They mean something and are constantly engaged & thought for by cherished by the bride.

A wedding ring should mean just exactly what it is stamped. Our rings are all stamped 14 and 18-kt., and they stay right up to the mark.

You will be interested to know the many beautiful wedding ring designs which we have just received from some of the most craftsmen of our industry.
